Deadly Rumble Foiled As Police Grab Gangs

NEW YORK (AP) — Police rounded up 27 youths in two well-armed gangs Wednesday night, probably preventing more killing in the tense Bronx area where 16-year-old John Guzman was slain Monday.

TOMAHAWKS AND 'SIX-GUNS'

NEW YORK (UPI) — Police went into action Wednesday when they received a report that three youths carrying guns and knives were seen on a rooftop.

Expecting another outbreak of juvenile violence, police rushed to the scene, bounded to the roof and found three 14-year-old boys playing cow-boys and Indians with toy weapons.

Bank Rate Falls After Three Rises

OTTAWA (CP) — The Bank of Canada interest rate fell today to 5.85 per cent from 6.13 last week with the sale of $100,000,000 in 90-day government treasury bills.

The decline of .28 per cent followed three consecutive weekly increases in which the rate moved from 5.58 per cent on Aug. 27 to last week's 6.13. The bank rate — minimum charge made on the infrequent central bank loans to chartered banks — is set at one-quarter of 1 per cent above the average yield on the weekly issue of short-term treasury bills sold by tenders. Today bids were accepted for $100,000,000 of the bills with an average yield of 5.60 per cent compared with 5.88 last week. Average price was $98.638. Highest yield was 5.64 per cent and lowest 5.55. Another $15,000,000 in 182-day bills were sold at an average yield of 6.29 per cent compared with 6.58 last week. Average price was $96.959 compared with $96.825.

One group of six youths, three of them over 21, were trapped by police on a rooftop with a pile of nine "Molotov cocktail" gasoline bombs, a shotgun with 22 shells, two hunting knives and a box of 22-calibre bullets.

A short time later three carloads of youths were spotted about four blocks away and caught after a five-block chase. This netted another 21 boys, a zip gun with two barrels on a swivel, and a switchblade knife. Some of the boys who tried to flee from the cars were seen dropping several objects into a sewer — presumably more weapons.

'DEAD FOR SURE'
Deputy Chief Inspector James J. Walsh, after questioning some of the youths, commented: "If this one had not been stopped, there would have been a couple dead tonight for sure."

Both groups of boys were arrested on anonymous telephone tips to police. The rooftop ambush and the auto caravan apparently were the outgrowth of a planned "rumble" between the gang to which Guzman had belonged and the gang identified with his killers.

ROOF AMBUSH
Edward Peres, 16, and six other teen-agers have been charged with homicide in the shooting of Guzman on the steps of a Bronx high school. As police reconstructed it, the battle was to have been fought on a playground Wednesday night and the three carloads of youths were bound for the playground. The six on the rooftop allegedly told police they had feared they would be outnumbered by the other group, and had decided to ambush them from the roof with their rifle and fire bombs.

The 'Best of Barron' To Appear as Book

A collection of 96 cartoons by Victoria Daily Times cartoonist Sid Barron will be available in book form next week.

Under the title "Barron's Victoria" the best of Mr. Barron's work on this topic over the past year will be published.

PRAYER FOR TODAY

Eternal God, as we experience during these autumn days the changing of the seasons, with all its matchless beauty, may we ever realize that Thou art a God who never changes. Help us to realize that Thy love for us does not blow hot today and cold tomorrow; that Thy forgiveness is not bestowed upon us at this moment and then withheld the next time we seek it. In Thine unchangeable nature may we see the occasion for our hope, the cause for our trust in Thee, and the reason for our faith; through Christ. Amen.

K Blames Cold War On U.S.

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Nikita Khrushchev today blamed the United States for continuing the cold war. "The Political cold is coming from you, and not from us," he told a civic luncheon here. "We are not afraid of the cold but we would like more favorable winds to blow in the world."

This speech was Khrushchev's last formal talk before he settles down to the serious work for which he came. He was to fly back to Washington late today to begin a series of meetings with President Eisenhower on ways to lessen world tensions.

BIG HAND
Khrushchev got a big hand from his steel-minded Pittsburgh audience today when he said:

"How happy would all the peoples of the world be if all the steel smelted in America... and in the Soviet Union would be used solely for peaceful purposes."

As he has occasionally in the past, Khrushchev turned his speech over to an interpreter.

Khrushchev told his audience that Russians and Americans each have their own national traits that, if put together, would help ensure world peace.

GAY MOOD

Earlier the Soviet premier, in one of his gayest, bounciest moods, plugged for Russian-American trade, offered to sign for equipment on the spot and then swapped his watch for a cheap cigar.

The discussion, and the unusual exchange of gifts, took place during a visit to the Mesta Machinery Company.

As Khrushchev was greeting workers at the Mesta plant, one of them, Kenneth Jackey, offered him a cigar — the five-for-39-cents type.

Khrushchev accepted it and whipped off his wrist watch and gave it to Jackey. Soviet officials said the watch is worth between $25 and $40.

As he toured the Mesta plant, Khrushchev admired the big machinery that is used to equip steel mills. Repeatedly he said:

'LET'S BUY IT'
"Let's buy it. Let's sign now."

"Sure," replied company vice-president W. W. Powell. "Yes, yes, yes, sure, sure, but you don't do any."

MAKING NAME FOR CANADA

U.S. Public 'Follows John'

VANCOUVER (CP) — Canada's consul general in Los Angeles said today more Americans know Prime Minister Diefenbaker than any other Canadian leader.

DEATH SENTENCE

One time Canadian immigrant from Germany, Geunther Podola, today was sentenced to be hanged for the murder of a London policeman. Old Bailey judge called it a "foul and terrible deed."

MOON ROCKET BLOWS UP DURING TEST

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — An Atlas-Able rocket being made ready for a U.S. shot at the moon exploded on its pad during a test of its engines today.

Flames spurted from the base of the towering rocket as the countdown reached zero in the static engine test. Suddenly the missile erupted in a flash of fire.

No one was injured. The shot would have been an attempt to put a 375-pound satellite in orbit about the moon. A television camera in the satellite was to attempt to take pictures of the dark side of the moon, which man has never seen.

It is doubtful that the United States can have another Atlas-Able rocket ready in time for an early October launching. This means it will be at least early November before such a launching can be attempted.

One Union Postal Aim

WINNIPEG (CP) — Canadian Postal Employees Association today on the final day of its annual meeting agreed to continue working towards the formation of one postal union. The association, representing 10,000 of 12,000 post office employees, eventually wants to unite with the 5,100-member Federated Association of Letter Carriers and the 800-member Railway Mail Clerks Federation.

Mister Green's right in thinking it ain't no bed o' roses bein' under a Geiger counterpane.

Looks like Mister Khrushchev has bin sight-seen as much as he sight-saw.

Green Appeals 'For All Mankind'

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) — Canada called on the United Nations today for worldwide collection of information on radiation, saying that all mankind is concerned with this peril to human life and future generations.

External Affairs Minister Howard Green, making his first policy speech to the UN General Assembly, took the initiative in the much-discussed and controversial subject when he declared:

"At this session the Canadian delegation intends to submit a proposal which we sincerely hope will encourage the worldwide collection of more accurate data on radiation and will provide for its central collection."

Canada 'Sympathetic' to K Plan

His remarks were contained in the text of a speech released to the press before delivery.

Green also:

1. Announced that Canada, as its special contribution to the world refugee year, will waive normal immigration requirements and admit a "substantial number" of tubercular refugees and their families from European camps. While the minister named no figure, it was understood he was thinking in terms of about 100 families.

2. Said Canada is "entirely sympathetic" with Soviet Premier Khrushchev's general proposals for a world without arms but they lack essential details regarding control.

3. Referred to Prime Minister Diefenbaker's announcement last week that Canada is ready to open Canadian territory to inspection, particularly in the Arctic area, "under an equitable and reciprocal system."

4. Stressed the urgent necessity — emphasized by Russia's "magnificent achievement" in sending a rocket to the moon — of establishing rules determining national sovereignty in space.

5. Suggested that the UN find a way to "express its continuing interest in Laos," the southeast Asian kingdom whose government claims it is the target of aggression from Communist North Viet Nam.

It was understood the minister meant something symbolic that would show UN concern with events in the troubled country.

6. Stressed the importance of the UN Emergency Force in the Middle East and urged members to support Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld in his efforts to "consolidate its financial position."

On disarmament — which has become the dominant theme of the current assembly —

Want to End Nuclear Testing

"The central question of disarmament turns on the ability of states to find a basis of mutual confidence, and this is realistically reflected in Mr. Lloyd's proposals."

Disarming and control had to be negotiated in parallel. Otherwise mutual confidence would be lacking at a time of great political and ideological conflict.

Canada's geographical position as a neighbor of both the U.S. and Russia gave Canadians a special interest in disarmament.

The 64-year-old foreign chief did not spell out details of his plan, but stated:

"We believe that mankind would derive relief from anxiety if the nations of the world were to acknowledge an obligation to do what they can to ensure that the worldwide physical measurement of the intensity and distribution of radiation is made as accurate and complete as possible."

Green declared that "now as never before" the impasse must be solved and he referred to proposals placed before the 82-member body by Khrushchev and Foreign Minister Selwyn Lloyd of Britain.

Stressing that Canada still is studying the proposals and reserving detailed comments, the minister said:

"For the moment let me say I am entirely sympathetic with the general objective stated by Mr. Khrushchev's proposal. . . . We would all like to see general and complete disarmament. However, we are looking forward to more detailed proposals designed to this end, particularly with respect to control."

"The Canadian people are unanimous in their wish to see an end to nuclear testing," said Green, saying there is "some encouragement" in that there now exist 17 agreed articles of a draft treaty on the halting of nuclear tests.

Turning to radiation, the minister said "all mankind is concerned that knowledge of the biological and other effects of radiation and of the present

Steelman Stabbed In Kitchen Fall

HYANNIS, Mass. (AP) — Walter F. Munford, president of the strikebound U.S. Steel Corporation, wounded himself accidentally while handling a knife, District Attorney Edmund Dinis said today.

The 59-year-old Munford was taken from his Chatham summer home to Cape Cod Hospital in serious condition Wednesday. He had been wounded in the abdomen with a kitchen paring knife.

... GREEN

He said there must also be realization that even if the nations agree to stop testing nuclear weapons the problem of radiation will not vanish since radiation would remain in such things as medicine and atomic industry.

"Scientists must have at their disposal data on radiation from fallout and other sources which would be as nearly as possible world-wide in its scope and collected by standardized methods."

All member states could make a vital contribution by co-operating in the collection of data and in remitting it to a central agency for collation, thus making it available to governments and institutions for investigation of the biological effects and industrial hazards of radiation.

Regarding refugees, Green said the new group of immigrants would be brought to Canada and treated in sanatoria at Canadian expense.

He said all evidence indicated the wound was not intentionally self-inflicted.

The accident, he said, apparently occurred while Munford was in the kitchen putting away kitchen utensils.

He said Mrs. Munford told him the kitchen floor was made of highly waxed flagstones.

"No one knows how the accident happened," Dinis said.

Dinis said Munford's wife found him standing up "apparently not aware that he was stabbed." He didn't realize what had happened.

Before Dinis completed his investigation, Gerald Ouellette, administrator of the Cape Cod Hospital, announced Munford apparently had wounded himself with a knife while in a state of fatigue.

Ouellette had earlier said two doctors "were getting ready to go with Mr. Munford to Boston to arrange for further treatment" for a nervous condition.

The Arabs invaded Egypt in A.D. 639 and some remained as nomadic herdsmen.

B.C. PINK SLIP LAW RAPPED BY CCF CHIEF

NELSON (CP) — CCF leader Robert Strachan said Wednesday night that his party would legislate to provide compulsory auto insurance plan. It would cover every person and vehicle in the province.

The opposition leader said B.C.'s pink slip law covering auto insurance is "as full of holes as Swiss cheese." He estimated there are 30,000 to 40,000 drivers without insurance.

Mr. Strachan, appearing here as part of his speaking tour of the province, said current legislation "makes no provision whatever for ensuring that every vehicle on the road carries a minimum of insurance."

Companies selling insurance in B.C. frequently deny aid to innocent accident victims, he added.

Death for Killer Of U.K. Policeman

LONDON (CP) — Guenther Podola today was convicted of murdering a London detective July 13 and sentenced to be hanged.

The guilty verdict was returned by a jury of 10 men and two women after a two-day trial in the Old Bailey.

The jury was out only 35 minutes.

As soon as he had received the verdict, Justice Edmund Davies placed on his head the strip of cloth symbolic of the black cap long used in handing down death sentences in British courts.

The death penalty has been abolished in Britain except for a few specified offences including the murder of a policeman in the execution of his duties.

Podola, testifying earlier today in his own behalf, told the jury he could offer no defence because "I have lost my memory."

Addressing Podola, the judge said:

"You have been convicted on evidence of the most compelling character and certainty of the capital murder of Raymond William Purdy, a police officer acting in the execution of his duty, by shooting him down in the prime of his manhood."

After a nine-day trial with a "trial" which preceded the trying of the murder case, a previous jury decided Podola was faking loss of memory and was fit to face the charge.

At the start of the trial Wednesday Podola's counsel, Francis Lawton, said the German was persisting in the loss-of-memory claim and had been unable to offer any suggestions for his own defence.

INTERNATIONAL CROSSING

Scurrah to Speed Skiers Across Strait

Mayor Percy Scurrah will give a send-off to the Victoria water skiers who will skim across the Strait of Juan de Fuca Sunday afternoon carrying a message to the governor of Washington.

Simultaneously, four Port Angeles water skiers will cross the Strait to Victoria in a two-way display designed to promote Greater Victoria's 1959 Community Chest campaign.

Eric Mallett, campaign chairman, today sent a telegram to Premier Bennett asking him to give the Victoria skiers a fitting send-off when they leave the Inner Harbor Sunday at 2 p.m.

But the premier regretted he would be in Vancouver Sunday.

Four members of the Victoria Aqua Club—Don Lowe, Cliff and Knute Johnson and Neil Smith—will take off from the Inner Harbor for Port Angeles at 2 p.m. bearing torches and a water-proofed message for delivery to the Governor of Washington.

Skating in the opposite direction will be the Port Angeles team headed by Sergeant Cliff Sweatt of the city police force.

Given good weather it is expected the skiers will take about 40 minutes to cross the Strait.

Miss Red Feather has a busy weekend ahead. She will carry the torch in a big parade from the Black Ball Ferry Wharf at 7:15 p.m. Friday, and will also be guest of honor at a football match between Victoria Drakes and HMCS Naden at Royal Athletic Park Saturday at 2 p.m.

Ten per cent of the gate money will be donated to the Community Chest.

Sunday-evening chest volunteers will be entertained at a special preview of the movie "Thirty-Nine Steps" in the Odeon Theatre at 8:30.

The Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry drum corps will play for the occasion.

Following departure of the Victoria skiers, there will be a brief ceremony aboard a naval craft tied up at the Causeway.

Justin Harbord, resident of Victoria Community Chest; Mr. Mallett and Miss Red Feather (Linda Anderson) will speak on the current drive for an objective of $325,000.

The Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry drum corps will play for the occasion.

How is it you Americans have lost one of your features peculiar to Americans? You used to be very bold, and you used to trade with the whole world. But of late some kind of devil must have frightened you because you are afraid to stick out your nose for fear the devil will imprison you."

Khrushchev gaily invited half a dozen waitresses in the company dining room to fly back to Moscow with him.

"Sure, why not?" one replied. But Khrushchev walked on without taking her along.

In the Soviet leader's party for the plant visit was Nikolai A. Tikhonov, a leading figure in the Soviet steel industry.

ONLY TORIES CAN TOOT OWN HORN

OTTAWA (CP) — Progressive Conservative MPs henceforth will share the glory connected with announcements of new public works projects in their constituencies.

Under a new practice adopted by recent appointed Works Minister Walker, these announcements now are issued as coming jointly from the Commons member and the minister.

But the system works only for Conservative MPs.

A department official said today that if the project is for a constituency represented by a Liberal or CCF MP, the announcement is made in Mr. Walker's name only.

Speech 'Bombs' Pay Off

By KEN SMITH
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Premier Khrushchev's special brand of diplomacy—saying in public what no other world leader would even consider saying—has rarely been used as adroitly by the Russian leader as during his U.S. visit.

He has used the technique for years and, by throwing out political bombshells at cocktail parties and other informal meetings, has succeeded in keeping the Western world wondering what comes next.

But, by making a great show of temper in the face of what he considers improper questions during his present tour, he has forced the U.S. government for the moment into the position of pretending that many of the specific points of Western opposition and criticism of communism are better left alone and ignored.

TAKE IT EASY

By threatening to cut short his tour and return to the Kremlin, Khrushchev manoeuvred the state department and the White House into calling on people meeting the Russian premier to restrain their questions.

There are signs that Khrushchev's slips of temper were deliberate. He has proved many times that he is as adept as the next politician when he wants to be at turning aside or slipping past awkward questions.

He could easily have done so on each of the occasions during his trip when he instead replied with a show of temper.

PITTSBURGH (AP) —

Nikita Khrushchev is winding up his cross-country tour with a stop in Pittsburgh. A crowd of 5,000 or more was jammed around the Carlton Hotel awaiting Khrushchev, even though he didn't arrive until just after midnight.

Here were more signs, some of them favorable. Khrushchev stood for a moment facing the crowd. He waved his hat, and then went into the hotel.

ROUGH DAY

Wednesday was another rough and wearying day on a trip that sometimes seems as if it were designed to wear down the premier's resistance.

Khrushchev finally got a chance to see Iowa's rich farmlands, its pigs, its cows, its corn, its towering bins of surplus grain, and the huge, complex machinery that enables farmers to harvest these bountiful crops efficiently.

Most of his time was spent in Coon Rapids, but he also dropped around for a brief stop at Iowa State University in Ames.

There he was presented with a plastic hog as a souvenir.

Police lined the 17 miles in from the airport. And they stood with their backs to the road, their eyes peeled for potential trouble on any of the surrounding hills.

Khrushchev was taken up the narrow, winding road to the top of Mount Washington for a sweeping view of Pitts-

OFFICIALS JUMPY

This city has many who are of Hungarian, Polish or Slovak origin. Even before Khrushchev arrived, demonstrators were carrying signs that carried such legends as:

"Butcher of Budapest," "Killer of American Pilots," "Remember 1956 Hungary with Nikita Khrushchev."

Security officials, always jittery wherever Khrushchev goes, became downright jumpy. Plans to have Khrushchev ride in an open car were abandoned, and the route he was to follow was changed.

JOKES WITH ADLAI

He parked away an end-means farm-style Iowa speech under a huge brown tree beside the swimming pool of the Roosevelt Hotel, named for the Coon Rapids, where he met Adlai Stevenson, the 1956 Democratic presidential nominee.

The Soviet leader and Stevenson had a private summit conference of their own.

Khrushchev discussed Stevenson's disappointed political ambitions, beside Garst's pool.

"Can I repeat to them our conversation regarding politics," Khrushchev asked Stevenson. "I will not be letting out secrets. I hope. You will not be investigated. I hope."

Stevenson said Khrushchev was "at liberty to reveal my innermost secrets."

Referring to Stevenson as "a politician in retirement," the premier pointed out "it often happens that the person who may be retired will be to-morrow in the front ranks."

Stevenson quipped that "it's a question of how many times you can be retired."

"I think that honest efforts in politics always pay in the end," Khrushchev said.

"My efforts have always been honest, but they have never paid," Stevenson replied.

My efforts have always been honest, but they have never paid, Stevenson replied.

ARMS PLAN AGREEMENT?

NEW YORK (AP) — Two New York papers quote Adlai E. Stevenson as saying Nikita Khrushchev has indicated agreement might be reached on an inspection plan in connection with disarmament by stages.

The Times, in a dispatch by Harrison E. Salisbury, says:

"Mr. Stevenson reported that Mr. Khrushchev had said he believed it would be possible to arrive at an agreement on an inspection system in connection with disarmament by stages."

The Featherheads

MRS. KATE AITKEN, a member of the Canada Council, is making a gallant attempt to save the CBC from every kind of trouble. She has begun to organize a "Committee of Two Thousand" citizens throughout the land who will watch the national television and radio programs and then tell the CBC what is right or wrong with them. By giving the public what it likes — or what the Committee of Two Thousand thinks it likes — and by avoiding what the Committee doesn't like, the CBC will make itself generally popular. Or so Mrs. Aitken seems to hope.

Maclean's Magazine calls this a "featherhead project" and so it is. Surprisingly enough, however, it has been approved by the CBC board of directors who should have known better. As Maclean's recalls, the same sort of Gallup Poll approach to broadcasting was tried years ago by the CBC when "advisory councils" were set up all over the country to watch radio programs and deliver judgments on them. As might have been expected, these councils could never agree on anything and soon dissolved.

No doubt this will happen to Mrs. Aitken's Committee of Two Thousand and the sooner the better. For as Maclean's says, this scheme repudiates the whole philosophy and purpose of the CBC.

Publicly-owned broadcasting was not established in the first place, it is not maintained now at great cost to the taxpayers for the purpose of making itself popular. Its purpose, and the only valid reason for its existence, is to provide the sort of material which a privately-owned broadcasting system would not provide, not at least in sufficient quantity. If that kind of material is to reach the public some of it is bound to be unpopular with large numbers of people, some may be actually offensive to many listeners but they don't have to listen to it.

It's Too Easy to Use a Gun

MR. E. E. BARSBY, PAST president of the B.C. Federation of Fish and Game Clubs, has called for an extensive educational program to curb hunting accidents. A spokesman for the provincial fish and game department has urged all hunters to be absolutely sure of their target before firing.

These are the public reactions of men versed in woodlore and firearms use as they contemplate the mounting risks involved in autumn's invasion of the bush.

The hazards of hunting mount in direct ratio to the number of people who take up the pastime without the competence essential to it. The woods are becoming crowded and the crowd contains too many people who lack either the temperament or the experience required for safety.

Strange developments have occurred in hunting. The old rules handed down from father to son seem to be ignored by a number of new participants. Veterans have heard, with a distinct sense of shock, of what is sometimes called the "listening shot." This is explained, is a shot taken at a sound in the bush when the hunter hears

Who is to decide what programs the CBC shall put on the air? Obviously that question must be decided by the CBC management itself. It cannot be submitted to the nation every month or so as a referendum.

The CBC must take full responsibility for its programs and, not being a candidate for elective office, it should not count votes. Its primary concern is the quality of its work. Of course the quality must not be so arty and precious that most of the public will refuse to look at it but the CBC must not seek the lowest common denominator of public taste or there will be no reason for its costly existence.

The balance between these extremes is delicate and difficult to find, but only the CBC can be trusted to find it. And if the present CBC managers fail to find it they should be replaced by managers who can.

The CBC has been gravely damaged in the last year solely because some of its top men have tried to evade responsibility. They allowed themselves to be pushed around by politicians and canceled a commentary on Parliament because it was unpopular with the Government. Then they were driven by a public outcry to reinstate the program, thus admitting that they were wrong in the first place or the second.

In any case they were abdication that absolute independence of government and all outside pressures which is the only safeguard of a publicly-owned broadcasting system.

After these shaking events it will take some time to re-establish the reputation of the CBC for independence impartiality and responsibility. That task will not be assisted by two thousand amateur experts providing two thousand separate, contradictory opinions. Instead, the CBC management should be trusted or dismissed.

what he takes to be the rustling of a deer.

A highly skilled naturalist may be able to distinguish the difference between the noise made by a deer in undergrowth and that made by another animal or a man. But even the naturalist has no justification for taking a "listening shot."

There are, nevertheless, men going into the woods now who do fire at sound. On occasions the results of that practice make headline tragedies in the newspapers.

Under existing circumstances it appears high time that new regulations, requiring proof of competency, should be enforced on those seeking firearms licenses. The acquisition of a permit to hunt, to carry and use a loaded gun in the woods, is far too easy at present.

It is scarcely stretching a point to say that any irresponsible person can go hunting, blaze away at a sound in the woods and compound tragedy upon tragedy.

This is not good enough. Human life should not be placed in such jeopardy. Qualifications to justify the use of a gun should be demanded before a license to shoot is granted.

Good News From Mr. Crump

THE CPR'S DECISION TO MAINTAIN daily ship service between Victoria and Vancouver, after announcing earlier intentions to abandon it, comes as good news to this community. It is to be hoped the service will continue at least until Provincial Government ferries are running between Sidney and the lower Mainland.

The need for this contact was obvious. Under certain conditions Victoria could have been isolated from the rest of Canada had the original intention to end the run on Sunday been carried through. The representations made by the mayor and other local interests, supported strongly by Gen. Peakes, have undoubtedly influenced Mr. N. R. Crump, president of the line.

He, in turn, has shown an appreciation for the city's position, has recognized a certain moral obligation to the capital and deserves genuine thanks for reversing the previous decision.

The Canadian Pacific has reacted favorably to Victoria's pleas. It remains now to be seen if patronage of the ships by local citizens justifies the urgent request they made for retention of daily service — a patronage, it seems, which might be further encouraged if train connections can be arranged.

In the Forefront

LOCAL EDUCATION AUTHORITIES may take credit for the words of praise from Dr. J. R. Kidd, director of the Canadian Association for Adult Education. Dr. Kidd sets this city in the front ranks of Canadian communities which are carrying out progressive programs of night-time education for adults.

Many courses are available in the daytime, Dr. Kidd observes, but not so many are provided for persons who have only the evenings free for studies which would add to the knowledge they acquire through their employment, or for those who wish to improve their cultural background.

A mechanic, for instance, can learn about engines best by working on them. But he will be a better mechanic for having taken some theory as well.

The Victoria experience has been gratifying to those who arrange night classes. There can be little doubt that with the start that has been made, a continual increase in popularity will follow. Perhaps most to be complimented are those who, offered the opportunity, lost no time in grasping it.

LOOSE ENDS

Mr. Sauve Projected Into the Big Vacuum

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

THE most interesting and, to the nation at large, the least-known Canadian politician today is Premier Sauve of Quebec. Interesting because the political master of Quebec must always be a kind of fulcrum in our dual society, and little known outside Quebec because he has long been overshadowed by his predecessor. But will Mr. Sauve become the master of Quebec like Mr. Duplessis? Indeed, is any politician in contemporary Quebec able to master it as it has been mastered through more than three centuries by a series of remarkable leaders?

Hutchison

It was with this obvious question in mind that I sought out Mr. Sauve in Quebec City last spring. I didn't know then, of course, that Mr. Duplessis would soon be gone the way he was conducting the legislature that day with a fine gusto as if it were an obedient orchestra sensitive to every gesture of his delicate hands. But I had been told that Mr. Sauve was the man of the future.

The first thing that struck me as I entered his office was that Mr. Sauve appeared to be a most likeable man — a relaxed man, too, candid and easy to get along with. He did not look, however, like a French Canadian or even like a politician.

Handsome and athletic, though he seemed to have put on a little weight recently, he looked rather like a retired professional army officer. His years of distinguished service in the last war had left their mark on him. The close-cropped mustache, ruddy cheeks and direct manner were military. So was his English speech which bore no trace of French accent.

I NEVER saw a man who looked less like our conventional image of a politician, especially a French-Canadian politician. And I never knew a French Canadian politician who seemed to have less prejudice against English-speaking Canada or a wider experience of the world.

If these impressions are correct — and they are only the impressions of a casual conversation, they can be highly important to the nation from now on. For one of the great imperatives of our politics, now that the magic of Duplessis has gone, is whether Mr. Sauve will reverse or at least modify his old chief's insularity and intransigence.

Has the old radical been replaced by a young moderate in the familiar cycle of Quebec's affairs? Do we have in Mr. Sauve the Quebec counterpart of Mr. Frost, who succeeded the radical Mr. Dwyer and overnight ended Ontario's long feud with the Liberal government at Ottawa?

EVEN assuming that Mr. Sauve wishes to moderate the stern, parochial line of Mr. Duplessis, can he do it? Or is he the prisoner of commitments made and hopes raised while he was Mr. Duplessis' loyal lieutenant? Can the momentum and direction of the old regime be shifted without breaking the powerful but delicate Union Nationale machine?

That brings us back to the original question: Is Mr. Sauve another great French Canadian leader in the tradition of Cartier, Mercier, Laurier, Lapointe, St. Laurent and Duplessis, or merely a charming sophisticated businessman unable to fill the present vacuum of French Canada and grasp the mysterious roots of power among his people? Can Mr. Sauve make himself, like his predecessor, the father image and folk figure of his race or is he only a passing incident?

FOR the task ahead, with all its implications in national politics, Mr. Sauve has obvious assets in his charm, his administrative abilities, his reputation as a fine fellow and I would suspect, an inner toughness under a genial manner. But to an ignorant outsider at least, he has obvious liabilities.

He doesn't look at all like the image of Quebec, he lacks the color of a Lapointe, the grandeur of a St. Laurent, the theatrical genius and bravura of a Duplessis.

All the great French Canadian politicians lived less on policy than on a mystique which the cold, matter-of-fact Anglo-Saxon mind can seldom feel or understand. Above all, any master of French Canada — as Laurier, Lapointe and Duplessis mastered it and St. Laurent did not — must make his people believe that if they sometimes disagree with his policies he is still their man, the father of the race.

FOR such a figure there is plenty of room today. The largest flaw and lack in our whole political system is the absence of any man in any party, who can speak with undoubted authority for French Canada.

That is Mr. Diefenbaker's gravest weakness, through no fault of his own. The basic structure of all successful governments, a coalition between an English-speaking and a French-speaking statesman, like Macdonald and Cartier, King and Lapointe, St. Laurent and Howe, has collapsed for the time being. Mr. Pearson is in no better case since he, too, lacks a French Canadian partner.

Our political system will never be in true balance until another great French Canadian spokesman is discovered. So long as Mr. Duplessis lived Quebec had such a spokesman; though he was not in federal politics, directly at any rate and, unfortunately, with all his talents, he did not see the nation whole, but only a third of it.

MR. Sauve, I think, does see the nation whole but he has yet to master Quebec, where office and constitutional power do not necessarily mean mastery by any means.

A lifelong, hereditary and instinctive Conservative, Mr. Sauve may well wish to deliver Quebec to Mr. Diefenbaker at the next national election, he may wish to end the old and largely artificial feud with Ottawa, but can he do it? Or will practical provincial politics compel him to continue fighting for Quebec's sacred right which, in fact, no national government of any party wishes to infringe?

Much turns on that question and on the unknown capacities of Mr. Sauve, much more than the fortunes of any government or party. For in dealing with the master of Quebec, whoever he may be, we are dealing with the basic stuff of Canadian life, the vital elements of our weakness or our strength.

In the Opinion of Our Correspondents

Press Mr. K's Plan

As a non-Communist, a veteran of Second World War, and a father of three boys, I urge all parents to wire or write to our Canadian government asking that they press in the UN and at Washington for acceptance in principle of Khrushchev's proposal for complete disarmament within four years, and for the speedy establishment of the necessary detailed machinery.

If Khrushchev is bluffing we should call his bluff. If he is not, we must not throw away what may be the last opportunity of the human race to escape oblivion.

For Character

I heartily support Mrs. McGill in her appeal for the attendance of children at Sunday school.

There are more things in life than dreamed of by philosophy. Love cannot be put into a test-tube, weighed, measured and analyzed, but what would life be without it? Appreciation of great art, music or literature cannot be brought into being in a class room. Man has an aesthetic nature that the imparting of facts and figures alone will never satisfy.

When it comes to character, Edgar Hoover, famous head of the FBI declares "religion and crime seem to be like oil and water. They do not mix." In one survey out of 8,000 delinquent children only 42 attended Sunday School.

At the close of the 19th century a lad of 12 years was selected almost at random from the Church Schools of England and examined as to his beliefs of life. It was found he knew the Ten Commandments, the Beatitudes, and a number of parables of Jesus. He could furnish with reasonable accuracy, the explanation of these. He was clear that one should be brave like David, honest like Eli, kind to children like Jesus. One should defend the right like Daniel, and not tell lies like Ananias. One should honor one's father and mother, believe in God, love one's neighbor, and keep Sunday different from other days. God was one's heavenly Father, and nobody could come between. Talents must be used, not buried. Cleanliness was next to Godliness, and in the sweat of his brow one must earn his bread.

Not a bad stock in trade for a boy to start out in life.

He will get this in the Church School and nowhere else. Character alone makes a nation great, and the greatest man known is Jesus Christ. Men cannot be their best and reject Him. Jesus declared: "Ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free." But truth is full orbed. It takes in the whole of life: body, mind and spirit. One cannot neglect one of these without impoverishing the others.

Gladstone declared "the Sunday School was the world's greatest institution for popularizing the world's greatest book." When our present beloved Queen was crowned, she was presented with a copy of the Bible which was declared to be "the most valuable thing that this world affords. Here is Wisdom: this is the Royal Law: these are the lively oracles of God." It is of this Book, and its message to life that girls and boys learn in church schools. This institution is basic in the character building of a nation.

From Our Files

LONDON, Eng., Sept. 24, 1959 — War or peace in South Africa rests in the hands of President Kruger. The longer he delays his decision the better the chance for peace.

Sept. 24, 1919 — Thousands of spectators parked the entrance to the quadrangle before the Parliament Buildings to give a vociferous welcome to the Prince of Wales.

Sept. 24, 1939 — London: The RAF continued today to pepper Germany with leaflets telling the war was not against them but against the Nazis.

Britain's Elections

LONDON — The general election campaign has started with the Conservatives slightly, but only slightly, further ahead in the public opinion polls than they were at the equivalent periods of the election campaigns of 1951 and 1955. In 1951, it will be remembered, they won a very small overall majority of under 20 in a House of 630 members, and in 1955 an overall majority of 60.

This time Labor has the advantage in that the course of the by-elections during the expiring Parliament, right up to last June, suggested that it had at least an equal chance of winning. On the other hand, people have got used to a Conservative government as being in the normal course of things. To the pollsters' question, "Which party do you expect to win?" a much larger proportion now than in 1955 says that it expects the Tories to come rolling home.

Among intellectuals and leaders of opinion, admittedly a very small group, Labor undoubtedly has more support than it did in 1955. The Sunday Observer, which sat on the fence last time, has this time come out early against the Conservatives, whom it regards as stained by the "shame" of Suez, Central Africa and the Hola camp scandal.

Labor Supporter

The mass circulation Daily Mirror, the paper with the "largest daily sale on earth," is also already swinging hard on Labor's side. Last time it withheld specific support until nearer the last moment, and then only plumped for Mr. Aitken on the somewhat desperate grounds that it considered that the Conservatives were bound to get a larger majority anyway and that its readers should be advised to "vote Labor and keep the Tories tame."

Within the Labor party itself the balance of power has plainly shifted to the moderates and away from the wild men. Mr. Gaitskell has made three television appearances in the past week, suave, intelligent, reasonable, personally very likeable — and he has not put a propagandist foot wrong.

This is just as well for Labor, since others of its spokesmen had previously seemed unable to put a foot right.

In a television program prepared while Mr. Gaitskell was in Moscow called "The Tory Swindle" Labor headquarters had seemed to be trying to put over two themes: (a) that the Tories were plotting to lead the people into black ruin and bleak poverty; and (b) that the Tories had unfairly pinched all Labor's policies. To the discriminating voter these themes appeared somewhat inconsistent.

While Mr. Gaitskell has been working so hard to take all unattractive notes of strident out of Labor's campaign, Lord Hailsham has been doing the same on the Tory side.

Darkness Lightened

Much less is being heard now of dark warnings that a near-Bolshevik Mr. Gaitskell secretly wants to nationalize every major industry, make every body live in council houses and strip Britain defenceless before the Russians.

Instead the campaign is being presented on both sides as a tussle between two sets of reasonable men. The only trouble with Mr. Gaitskell, the Tories are trying to hint, is that he is inexperienced, inefficient and completely in the pockets of the trade unions.

The trouble with Mr. Macmillan, Labor is hinting, is that he is just a little too keen on a personality cult and that he is in the pockets (in the nicest possible way) of big business and colonialist blimps.

Here and there ardent party workers on both sides can be heard expressing their fear that if their campaigns continue pianissimo in this way, large proportions of the electorate will not bother to vote on October 8, and that the election will be won by whichever party is least badly affected by the merging pattern of differential abstentions.

Electoral Statistics

Meanwhile, inevitably, the voice of that newest sort of political scientist, the electoral statistician, is being widely heard in the land. In none of the last three elections has more than three per cent of the electorate changed sides. In order to win a majority of the seats this time, Labor would be likely to have to mark up at least a two per cent swing compared with 1955.

The latest public opinion polls are suggesting that since 1955 there has probably been a swing of between one and two per cent to the Conservatives, instead. Because Labor had a greater number of small majority seats in 1955, a two per cent swing to the Conservatives would be likely to raise the Tory majority in the House from 60 to about 150, which some people would call a landslide victory.

Several Labor notables, including Mrs. Castle and Mr. Mikardo, are standing for constituencies which would go Tory if there were a two per cent swing, while Mr. Harold Wilson and Mr. Strachey could be uneasily by a three per cent one. Most of the Conservative cabinet ministers by contrast have pretty safe seats.

CURTAIN!!

One aspect of living at a bus stop is the naked feeling I get when I take down my curtains from my front bay windows, and stand poised on the steps with the wash leather in my hand and the bus rolls up full of people. Every eye is upon me and I know, exactly how an actress feels on a big bare stage when the curtain rises on the first night of a new play. It's just the same when I'm digging and planting in the front garden. Every 10 minutes 30 or more pairs of eyes bore into me and I feel that perhaps I ought to sing or dance and then board the bus and pass the hat round, although I expect they would only fill it with used tickets.

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

Epilepsy

Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mount Sinai and Executive Professor of Medicine, Mount Sinai.

A while ago I heard a remarkable talk by Dr. Leon Oettinger, who in the Los Angeles schools has been making a particular study of problem children and children who cannot learn to read or write easily. He said that what he had found was that when he got electroencephalograms of all these children, he found 67 per cent of them with abnormalities in the little electric currents—abnormalities such as commonly are found in epileptics. That these findings were not meaningless was shown by the fact that often, when he gave the child an anti-epileptic drug, the next day the teacher reported a decided improvement in the child's behavior, and sometimes in his writing and reading.

The child would be less restless in school, he would be better behaved, less likely to be a trouble maker, and more amenable to discipline. Some of the children, when given a little Dexedrine, also improved to a remarkable way, again showing that there was something physically wrong with their brain, something that could be corrected with the help of a drug. The child hadn't been simply "bad" as he had been thought to be before; he had been ill. Often the doctors learned that he had a few forebears who were bad-tempered or violent or alcoholic or eccentric or "bad actors."

Usually, when I see a child like this, and when I can get the parents to talk to me honestly and frankly, I can find that among the parents, grandparents and uncles and aunts—or sometimes cousins, nieces and nephews—there was some mental disturbance; sometimes a definite psychosis; a "nervous breakdown"; sometimes an inability to work or to be a useful member of society. Often, what I heard was that the father or the grandfather had been a bad-tempered man, very hard to get along with.

NEW SASK. PLATFORM

Liberals 'Crib' From Socialists

REGINA (CP) — Saskatchewan's Liberal party will fight the next election with many of socialism's weapons.

Prepaid medical and surgical services for all, improvement in wages and hours for the working man, extensive highway building, more aid to education, greater development of natural resources. All these were promised Wednesday as the party's leadership convention nailed down the planks in the platform, it will present to the voters in the election expected in 1960.

The Liberals, out of office since 1944 when the socialistic CCF party swept into power, also will fight the election with a new leader, to be chosen today. They will choose from among four candidates:

W. Ross Thatcher, Moose Jaw hardware merchant who left the CCF party in 1953; A. C. Cameron, of Maple Creek; Will Gardner, of Melville; and a Frank Foley, of Turfited.

LEADER RETIRES

A. H. McDonald, of Moosemin, has retired from the party because of ill health, but not from the legislature. He told the convention he has reconsidered an earlier decision and will run again in Moosemin if nominated in 1960.

The convention came alive Wednesday afternoon when Mr. McDonald made his farewell speech as party leader. His emotional address won a standing ovation from the delegates.

In a free-swimming speech he blasted present policies of the provincial and federal governments, objected to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's visit to the United States, opposed subsidies or protection for Canadian agriculture and industry and urged a country-wide return to the principles of liberalism.

LABOR POLICY

The retiring leader recalled past "bickering and dissension" in the party and, in promising his support to the new leader, called for a united front to ensure victory at the polls.

The party's labor plank includes a right-to-work clause and pledges to improve wages, working hours and working conditions. It guarantees private enterprise freedom from regulation other than in the public interest.

The right-to-work clause is tempered by a measure which would allow unions in open shops to collect dues.

Welfare Council Gives Backing To Family Court

Directors of Victoria Community Welfare Council voted solidly in favor of setting up a family and juvenile court Tuesday night.

David Woodsworth, director of the Family and Children's Service, reported on interviews he has had with Attorney General Robert Bonner, Welfare Minister Wesley Black and representatives of the municipalities.

The directors decided to solicit support for a family court from PTA, groups and service clubs throughout Greater Victoria.

Churchill Hails K Plan 'But We Must Know More'

WOODFORD, Eng. (Reuters)—Sir Winston Churchill Wednesday night welcomed Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's plan for complete disarmament within four years as "a most striking proposal."

"But we must know more," the former prime minister said.

How is this disarmament to be controlled? For it is on this point that so many past discussions have foundered.

Churchill, running for all-must certain re-election in the Oct. 8 general election, said the West must avoid all temptation to buy a temporary peace at the price of a surrender of vital interests in its negotiations with Russia.

Churchill, who rarely makes public speeches these days, reaffirmed his support for an East-West summit meeting, but he said he can see no other way that negotiations will take place in the immediate future.

He welcomed the talks between Khrushchev and President Eisenhower and said the West is fortunate to have men of Eisenhower's "experience and calibre on the international stage at this time."

Churchill opposed calls for Britain to renounce nuclear weapons unilaterally. "To strip ourselves of our nuclear weapons without any clearly safeguarded agreement would be greatly to weaken the West and to deprive us of a voice in the settling of our future."

By all means let us go forward to disarmament, but let us all go forward together.

'Bombard Gov't' For Ship Work

Greater Victoria municipal council should bomb the federal government with requests for allocation of three ship-building contracts to local yards, a top labor official said today.

A. W. Toone, secretary-treasurer of the Victoria Labor Council, also said that the provincial government should back such an appeal.

He said that the VLC has asked the Canadian Labor Congress to make representations to the federal government on its behalf.

He said the west coast should be given contracts for construction of a freight-passenger vessel to be built as a gift to the West Indies, a fisheries research vessel and a dredge.

"It seems such a shame that there is so little interest in pressing for the work now when it may mean several hundred more men working in January, February and March at the peak of unemployment times," he said.

Mr. Toone said Victoria MP A. deB. McPhillips "could not be more wrong" in his recent charge that a Vancouver meeting of civic, management and labor officials to discuss the shipyard situation was an attempt to "seek personal publicity."

He congratulated Vancouver Mayor Tom Alsbury for calling the meeting and added that a great deal of credit also should go to T. C. Gooderham, CLC regional director of organization and education.

Jobless Insurance Claims Show Decrease

OTTAWA (CP) — Claimants for unemployment insurance in August fell off from July, the government reported Wednesday, though it had estimated earlier that unemployment was up slightly in August.

The Bureau of Statistics said the average weekly number of insurance beneficiaries in August was 154,700, compared with 164,800 for July and 223,200 for August, 1958.

Claimants for benefits at the end of August numbered 210,000, against 225,900 a month earlier and 294,600, a year previous.

Benefit payments of $13,100,000 were down from $14,300,000 in July and from $19,500,000 in August, 1958.

Average weekly payment in August was $20.19, compared with $20.04 in July and $20.79 in August, 1958.

In the government's monthly report on employment Tuesday, the bureau estimated that at Aug. 22 there were 239,000 persons out of work and looking for jobs, 11,000 more than at the same time in July and comparing with 281,000 in August of 1958.

DIFFERENT TREND

At the same time, the National Employment Service reported a different trend, with 278,933 registered for work compared with 291,513 in July and 357,687 a year earlier.

The bureau unemployment figures are estimates based on a sampling of 30,000 of Canada's 3,700,000 households and subject to sampling error.

The employment service figures are taken from those on file in offices across the country, screened in an attempt to confine them to actual unemployed, but also subject to error.

The insurance statistics are taken from preliminary monthly figures on the books of the Unemployment Insurance Commission.

Canada May Exceed $34.5 Billion GNP

OTTAWA (CP) — James Roberts, associate deputy trade minister, has said prospects now are that the $34,500,000,000 gross national product which the federal government budgeted for this year will be achieved and possibly exceeded. Gross national product is the total value of all goods and services produced in a year.

Mr. Roberts said in a speech that 1959 "is turning out to be a very good year for Canadian business."

The gross national product in the first quarter of this year was running at an annual rate of $33,400,000,000.

Explosion 'Rains Glass'

NEW YORK (AP)—A professional blaster trying to demolish an excavation on New York's West Side. At least 12 persons were hurt, none seriously. They were treated at hospitals for shock or cuts.

Virtually every window in buildings facing 93rd Street between Avenue B and Avenue C was shattered.

"It looks like it rained glass," said a bystander.

Police arriving at the scene found at least five persons lying in the street, apparently stunned by the blast.

They saw a woman huddled over a baby carriage, shielding her infant from the shower of glass with her body.

CUT BY GLASS

The blaster, 61-year-old Giuseppe Mignone, and his fellow workers, all employees of a contracting firm, digging for the Consolidated Edison Company, were cut by shivers of flying glass.

Mignone told police he had placed the quarter-pound sticks in the excavation and covered them with burning papers.

Officials agreed this was not an unusual way of disposing of unwanted dynamite, but Mignone was ordered arrested on charges of malicious mischief, felonious assault and unlawful use of dynamite.

AIRLINER

EXPLODES,
20 KILLED

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP)—An airliner exploded Wednesday night while trying to make an emergency landing at Sao Paulo's Congonhas Airport. Unofficial reports said it carried 16 passengers and four crew members and all were killed.

Reports said an engine caught fire and the plane was trying to come back in for an emergency landing when it exploded.

Civic Employees
Accept Pay Offer

CALGARY (CP)—At a special meeting Tuesday night more than 300 members of local 37, National Union of Public Employees, voted 2 to 1 to accept a compromise wage agreement and ended possible strike action by more than 1,000 civic outside workers.

The settlement calls for an across-the-board increase of 8 cents an hour this year and 7 cents an hour next year. The formula will give laborers one cent an hour less than a majority conciliation board award which was rejected by city council.

BABY DUE IN NEW YEAR

Queen Cancels
Christmas TV

LONDON (AP)—The Queen, expecting a baby early in the new year, will not make her usual television appearance on Christmas Day, Buckingham Palace announced today.

Instead, she will record a Christmas message to the Commonwealth in advance, for sound broadcasting only. Copies will be sent to radio stations throughout the Commonwealth. The announcement said it will be a message rather than a speech, and will be shorter than usual. The royal broadcast linking the Commonwealth has long been part of the Christmas tradition. It was started by the Queen's grandfather, King George V.

A court source said the royal mother-to-be probably will record her message when she returns to Buckingham Palace from her Scottish residence, Balmoral Castle, next month.

The baby is expected in January or February.

The Queen appeared in good health when she visited a movie studio with her 10-year-old son, Prince Charles, this week.

Meany Outshouts Foe
On Labor Color Policy

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Organized labor has decided to maintain a soft, persuasive approach to curbing racial discrimination within United States unions instead of adopting a hard, mandatory ban.

That is how a torrid debate wound up Wednesday night at concluding sessions of the AFL-CIO convention in a showdown over union racial discrimination practices.

The dispute pitted George Meany, AFL-CIO president, against Philip Randolph, Negro chief of the Sleeping Car Porters Union and an AFL-CIO vice-president.

Randolph demanded elimination of racially segregated union locals. Meany said he deplored discrimination as much as anyone but opposed punitive action against locals that have democratically chosen for decades to remain segregated.

Finally, with Meany shouting from the rostrum and Randolph from a floor microphone, Meany exploded:

"That's your policy. Well, it's not my policy. I'm for the democratic rights of Negro members to maintain a union if they want to."

"Who the hell appointed you as the guardian of all the Negro members in America?"

Randolph replied: "I don't believe members of a union have the right to maintain a Jim Crow local."

Meany answered: "Well, I am a union that want to have a believe that a group of men. Communist-dominated union?"

Meany: "They can't have it have a right to stay that way. Randolph: "Well they ought about a group of members in local either."

2 Ambulances On 190 Calls In 12 Months

(From Duncan Bureau)

Duncan's two volunteer ambulances answered 190 calls in the 12-month period ending Aug. 31. Kiwanis Ambulance Society announced today.

They included 159 house calls, five industrial, 23 traffic, 17 transfers to Victoria, and six transfers to Vancouver hospitals.

The society operates the two ambulances on a non-profit basis as a service to the Cowichan district, serving the area from Westholme to the Malahat summit. The ambulances are manned by members of the Duncan Volunteer Ambulance Drivers' Association.

Lee Seftler was reappointed society chairman. Directors are Mrs. H. Bulcock, representing the Red Cross; J. Diron, drivers' representative; G. Kyle, W. McNicol and D. R. Williams. Bert Lefever will represent the Kiwanis Club on the board of directors. Secretary-treasurer is Ormonde Springfield.

12 DRIVERS NOW

Curtis Peck, captain of the volunteer drivers reported there are now 12 regular ambulance drivers, equipped with "A" and "B" chauffeurs' licences and first aid and oxygen therapy certificates.

Although both the one-stretcher and two-stretcher ambulances are in good operating condition, he warned that consideration would soon have to be given to replacing the one-stretcher vehicle with another two-stretcher model. The one-stretcher ambulance, he said, does not have the capacity to cope with the increasing number of traffic accidents in the district.

Larger quarters to house the ambulances and equipment will soon be needed, he added.

4 Telephone Employees Retire Soon

More than 100 years of total service will come to an end shortly with the retirement of four B.C. Telephone Co. employees on Vancouver Island. They are traffic department members Miss Marion P. Mitchell, Victoria; Miss Myrtle Bell, Nanaimo; Mrs. Jessie Cloke, Chemainus; and Peter "Les" Garick, of Mayne Island.

Mr. Garick, whose maintenance work around the Gulf Islands required expert seamanship and telephone equipment knowledge, began as an apprentice repairman in 1940. He has served all his career from Mayne Island, often sailing his boat 40 miles a day on trouble calls.

Miss Mitchell began her career as an operator in the Kerrisdale office in July, 1923, and took up residence in 1929 at Victoria, where she has served as operator, service observer and PBX supervisor. Miss Bell spent most of her telephone career in Nanaimo, beginning on the Island in 1925 as an operator.

Mrs. Cloke began her service at Victoria in 1920. Following her marriage she resumed her career, and later served in Ladysmith and Chemainus.

AROUND THE ISLAND

West Coast Caravan Set

PORT ALBERNI — Goodwill caravan to travel to the west coast over the new Alberni-Tofino Road will leave Sunday at 9 a.m. from the Alberni Athletic Hall parking lot.

Tickets for a luncheon to be given at Long Beach by Tofino and J. J. Chambers of Commerce will be on sale at Somass Drug Store, Alberni, and Helen's Hobby Shop, Port Alberni, until noon Friday.

Sponsors of the caravan are city councils and chambers of commerce of both Alberni and Port Alberni. Representatives of other Vancouver Island centres will be welcomed.

NANAIMO — John Marynitch suffered leg, chest and shoulder injuries Wednesday when earth toppled on him as he worked in a sewer excavation 12 feet deep. Almost completely buried, he was uncovered by fellow workers and taken to Nanaimo General Hospital, where his condition was reported today as good.

PORT ALBERNI — Alberni volunteer fire department, called in error Tuesday to an Alberni Ready-Mix Concrete Ltd. warehouse on Rogers Street, fought the blaze until the Port Alberni department was notified.

The fire, of unknown origin, gutted the warehouse and destroyed a cement truck. Loss has not yet been estimated.

LAKE COWICHAN — Ferry in issuing bonds for an $82,000 water system rebuilding program will cost the village from $8,000 to $10,000, according to Commissioner M. F. Wise.

He said the government withheld the issue because of its plans to issue PGF bonds. "Now the market is poor and we will have to pay more in interest," Mr. Wise said.

SIDNEY — Village commission will hold a special meeting Tuesday to consider an offer from the provincial government for the purchase of 34 acres of land adjacent to the new ferry wharf under construction here.

It is necessary for cars waiting to board ferries to depart from here for Anacortes and Tsawwassen Beach. The offer is the second made by the province.

DUNCAN — Vegetable farmers in the Cowichan area have had a successful year, according to John Schmidt, manager of the Island Vegetable Co. Operative Association branch here, with production in most cases equal to that of last year.

In 1958 the branch handled 365 tons of potatoes and 25 tons of other vegetables from 20 farms. Figures are not yet complete for 1959.

NANAIMO — Vancouver Island Exhibition here Aug. 22-24 lost an estimated $1,500 to $1,800, according to exhibition board chairman Frank Wilfert, Jr.

Lack of attendance because of the IWA strike was blamed for the loss. Next event at Exhibition Park will be a hobby show Oct. 13 in the Centennial Building.

PORT ALBERNI — Rayner and Bracht Ltd., Port Alberni, with a tender of $102,695, was low bidder on a project to reconstruct and relocate a stretch of road between here and Alberni.

According to Highways Minister P. A. Gagliardi, all five tenders will be considered before the contract is awarded.

Autoist Fined $10

DUNCAN — Robert James Fletcher, of Duncan, was fined $10 and $5.50 costs by Magistrate A. C. Sutton in police court here Wednesday after pleading guilty to failing to stop at a red flashing light Sept. 7.

10 PER CENT

Debenture Discount Protested

Sale of debentures worth $200,000 at a 10 per cent discount will draw a "vigorous protest" from Sooke School Board, trustee Mrs. Isabelle Reader said today.

The board required $180,000 to repay money borrowed from its bank for school construction, and had to float debentures worth $200,000 to meet the debt.

Five per cent interest over 20 years, plus the discount will bring the cost of financing to $145,000, she said.

The education department agreed to sell debentures of a number of school boards en bloc, but stipulated the 10 per cent discount and demanded that all boards participate on those terms.

It was understood that if one of the boards refused, then the transaction would not take place, Mrs. Reader said.

OTHERS INVITED

"If enough of the school boards protest this sort of thing, maybe something will be done," she said.

The board has decided to divide a class of 28 Grade 1 and 16 Grade 2 students, and put the Grade 2 class in a basement room.

"Our teacher entitlement will not cover the extra teacher, so the board will pay the full cost," Mrs. Reader said. "We are hoping the department will realize the problem and relax its rules enough to pay a share of the teacher's salary."

The board will ask the highways department either to force Greater Victoria School Board to move a concrete valve box from the Glen Lake Road, or to relocate the road. The valve box creates a hazard for pedestrians near Belmont High School, trustees said.

RARE LOCKJAW CASE UP-ISLAND

CAMPBELL RIVER — A local man was rushed to Vancouver this week for treatment of lockjaw suffered after he had cut his hand in a power mower.

Victim was Edward Schmidt, B.C. Power Commission foreman at John Hart generating station.

'Gun-Happy' Hunters Rouse Citizens' Ire

SIDNEY — Deep Cove residents are going to fight back against hunters who already this season have done about $200 damage in the area.

E. G. Hay, a farmer reported loss of a calf while others have reported careless shooting around their properties, and shotgun pellets in the woodwork of their buildings. In protesting to the government, the Deep Cove Property Owners' Association learned that control can only be exerted through a rod and gun club. Members now are investigating establishment of a club to restrict random shooting.

The incident reported by Mr. Hay occurred when hunters in a grey station wagon shot while seated in the vehicle and killed a bird on his property. A dog sent to retrieve it stamped his cattle, and as a result one of his cows lost her calf.

SHOTS AT HOMES

The property owners also have reported that hunters have torn down notices prohibiting shooting, and that in many cases shots have been directed toward private homes.

Although there has been no loss of life to date, there have been reports of individuals lying on the ground for safety until trigger-happy hunters have passed by.

In Central Saanich hunting ties of 25 acres or more, and a hunter can only hunt on them after he has presented written permission from the owner to the municipal hall, where he will be issued a permit.

Speeding Charge

(From Duncan Bureau) Vernon Burke, Nanaimo, was fined $25 and costs after pleading guilty before Magistrate A. C. Sutton in Duncan police court today to a charge of speeding.

The RCMP constable acting for the Crown, pointed out Burke was checked Sept. 7 near Cobble Hill on the Trans-Canadian Highway. His car, which was towing a racing car, had been clocked at 74 miles per hour. He was driving in heavy Labor Day traffic.

Shudda Haddim Shrugs It Off

By SHUDDA HADDIM

Modesty forbids Shudda Haddim from explaining why he is such a great authority on horse flesh. After two trips to the place window at Sandown Park, Shudda still boasts a perfect record as a bettor.

Does Won didn't in Wednesday's third race and Shudda Haddim's original stake of $25 is dwindling much too rapidly. He held a $5 place ticket on Mission Days in the fourth today and grows bolder (if not ridiculous) by betting Double Show $2 on the nose in the sixth race on Friday.

And if this keeps up, Shudda Haddim will be into the rent money in no time!

SIDELINE SLANTS

BY

Doug Peden

If Arnie "Snuffy" Schmautz has a motto, it's probably the old one about "the bigger they are, the harder they fall."

Weighing in at 140 pounds, sopping wet in oversized underwear, Arnie usually tries to prove the theory about three times per season. In fact, 'tis said he has fought no-decision battles with about six of the biggest bruisers in professional hockey.

Arnold can't remember the huskiest foe he ever tackled, but he has no doubt about which one was toughest. He gives those orchids to Pete Durham, who always threw each punch with a purpose before his hockey career ended in a crunching crash into the Memorial Arena boards three seasons back.

Durham was with Seattle and Arnie was playing the first of his four pro seasons with New Westminster when that clash occurred. "I think I would have lost that one if they hadn't stopped us," says Snuffy, who won't admit losing a pugilistic decision.

Don't get the idea the little fellow goes around looking for trouble. He doesn't; but he does subscribe to the theory that you might as well try anything once, even big guys.

Snuffy didn't make much of a splash around the Western Hockey League last winter, but there was a good reason why his point production with the Royals skidded to 12 goals and 18 assists in 53 games.

He started the season by busting a bone in a foot and promptly spent seven weeks hobbling around on the sidelines. That, of course didn't help him stay in condition and Arnie never did get rolling in the style that earned him 28 goals and 38 assists the previous winter.

This Time Arnie Feels Like Big Man

Now that he's due to spend the winter with the Cougars, Schmautz looks like a good bet for his best-ever campaign. For one thing, he appears disgustingly healthy and eager shooting through workouts. For another, he'll be playing home games on a man-sized chunk of ice instead of in the cramped spaces of Queen's Park Arena, which have always handicapped a little man with his agility and skating speed.

And this year, Snuffy feels like a big man. He reported for training at 125 pounds a year ago, but when he checked in with the Cats this week he balanced the no-spring-pops at 142. Although two of those precious pounds disappeared during the first workout, the pint-sized gamecock is still happy to inform one and all that "I'll really be able to knock them over this season."

When Arnold is playing for the other team, he's just a downright pest. But when he's working on your side, you've just gotta like the little guy. That much was proved at New Westminster, where the five-seven, 26-year-old Ben Hogan of the WHL won the most popular player award in a breeze for two successive years before that busted foot cramped his style last winter.

Born at Ituna, Sask., and now a New Westminster resident, Schmautz belts a golf ball like a heavyweight. A low, handcapper, he would eventually like to try his luck in pro golf. But much as he likes digging divots he likes hockey even more, especially the job of killing penalties.

He's at his aggressive best when the other team has a manpower advantage. He and Arlo Goodwin, also a new Cougar, ran up an amazing skein with New Westminster, teaming up as penalty-killers, they went more than 20 games without yielding a goal while the Royals were short-handed.

Arnie thinks he's heading for a good season and so does manager-coach Hal Laycoe. "Schmautz is the best little man outside the National Hockey League," says Hal. "On this big ice surface he should drive a few defencemen crazy."

Best Performance Raises B.C. Hopes

BRAMPTON, Ont. (CP)—New Westminster Salmonbellies, battling on the edge of extinction, opened the throttle wide Wednesday night to defeat Brampton Excelsiors 8-6 in the fifth game of the Canadian junior lacrosse championship for the Minto Cup.

Brampton reads the best-of-seven series 3-2. The teams meet again here Friday with a seventh game, if necessary, Saturday.

The B.C. club came up with its best performance of the series, leading all the way. It was 3-0 at the end of the first quarter, 5-2 at the half and 6-5 after the third quarter.

TENSE WINDUP. Brampton penalties spelled the difference in the thrilling windup with both of New Westminster's winning goals coming while the Excelsiors were short-handed. Sid Warrick scored both of them.

Other scorers for the western champs were Bus Branstrom, Gerie Branstrom, Bill Wilkes, Keith Jackson, Tom Wyatt and Mike Gates.

Brampton's scoring was shared by Don Arthurs, Bob Davidson, Les Viempel, Wally Thorpe, Wally Thompson and Gerry Ahearne.

The tension of the final minutes touched off a punching and wrestling session between Bruce Wanless of Brampton and Tom Jackson of B.C. who tangled four seconds, before the final whistle.

Goalkeepers Merv Schweitzer and Don Arthurs.

NEW HAND ON WAY. WINNIPEG (CP)—Winnipeg Blue Bombers are bringing in end Ferrell Funston, recently released by Cleveland Browns of the United States National Football League, for a tryout with the Western Interprovincial Football Union club.

'YOU'RE OUT OF STYLE, GORDIE!'

Convinced that crew-cut is best hair style for hockey, Arnie Schmautz (right) and Art Jones are determined to get Gordie Fashoway's wavy locks streamlined before Cougars open Western Hockey League season on Oct. 9. They can expect trouble because the big forward has fashioned all-time WHL goal-scoring record with same hair-do. Members of New Westminster Royals last season, Jones, Schmautz and Fashoway are slated to see action against New York Rangers at Memorial Arena Saturday.

Hockey's 'Nice Guy' Comes Home Saturday

Saturday is home-coming night for one of hockey's nice guys.

He's Andy Heberton—valued member of New York Rangers, respected resident of Victoria, and always a candidate for the Lady Byng Trophy, the National Hockey League's most gentlemanly player award which he won in the 1956-57 season.

It has been almost five years since Heberton cut up ice in Memorial Arena, but he returns Saturday night wearing the Ranger blue when New York plays Victoria Cougars, the Western League team that helped send Andy into hockey's big time.

SEILLOUT CROWD?

A sellout crowd is expected to be on hand when the puck is dropped for the opening faceoff at 8:30.

It will be the third game for Rangers on a 10-game pre-season exhibition swing, but the first start for Cougars. Rangers opened their exhibition schedule Tuesday by defeating Vancouver Canucks 5-2 in Los Angeles. The same squads face off in the California city again tonight.

In addition to Heberton, a 33-goal scorer and the NHL's eighth top point-getter last year, 16 players are making the exhibition jaunt which winds up in Chicago on Oct. 7 for the opening of the 1959-60 NHL season.

IMPROVED CLUB

The total includes goalie Gump Worsley, five defencemen and 11 forwards. They make up a Ranger team that in the opinion of coach Phil Watson, "is greatly improved."

"The spirit is better, and we'll be stronger on the back-line as well as on our third line," he said.

Five new players, obtained by trade or through the draft, are on the squad. They are defencemen Ian Cushman and Irwin Spencer and forwards Brian Cullen, Ken Schinkel and Art Stratton.

Worsley has apparently beaten off the challenge of Marcel Paille in goal, according to Watson, and Earl Ingarfield, a sophomore centre, has impressed with his work in training thus far.

A second NHL team will follow right on the heels of Rangers' visit to Victoria. Detroit Red Wings meet the Hal Laycoe-coached Cougars Wednesday evening.

A limited number of tickets to both games are still available.

ICE CHIPS: Looks like Don Chupka will remain in Seattle.

Depth Eliminates Pain

Victoria Drakes' two top offensive tackles are hobbling in and out of the infirmary this week, but Jack Patrick isn't suffering.

"That's the nice thing about having depth on a team," the coach of the Pacific Coast Intermediate Football Conference team said today.

Tackles Leo Kozak and Steve Kapasky are scheduled to sit out Saturday's meeting with Navy and Patrick still has six reliable tackles to send onto the Royal Athletic Park turf.

Ready to step into the tackle slots are Pat O'Neill, Gordy Gordienko, Ted MacKenzie, Bob Copita, Joe Kurylo and Rick McVie.

PAT O'NEILL

Coutts, who played with Mayo Vampires last season, will make his first start of the season against the Sailors. He suffered a broken leg early this year and only recently received his doctor's permission to run at top speed again.

Also scheduled to play his first game for the Drakes is centre John Catterall.

First meeting of Victoria's entries in the four-team league, Saturday's game will also supply a boost for Victoria's Red Feather campaign.

Miss Red Feather, 18-year-old Linda Anderson, will be guest of honor and 10 per cent of the game's proceeds will be turned over to the Community Chest.

Game time is 2 p.m.

It'll End Soon, So Hang Around

Fifth Straight Setback Dims Giants' Hopes

By UP International

It's all tied up again, but don't go away—someone's gotta win that National League pennant soon.

Forget about those first 151 games and keep an eye on the next three. They should settle something.

The battling Los Angeles Dodgers knotted up the whole business again when they climbed into a first-place tie with Milwaukee Braves by blanking St. Louis Cardinals, 3-0. Milwaukee lost sole possession of the league lead by bowing to Pittsburgh, 5-4.

And the stumbling San Francisco Giants practically bowed out with a 9-8 loss to the Chicago Cubs in 10 innings. It was the slumping San Francisco's fifth straight defeat and it put them two games behind both the Dodgers and Braves.

Three Games Left

Each of the three contenders has three games remaining. The odds are still with the Braves, first because they play their last three games at home and second, because the games are with the last-place Phillies.

Dodgers play their last three at Chicago, and the Giants their final three at St. Louis.

Roger (Skinny) Craig was the man who pitched Los Angeles up to the top rung with Milwaukee. He limited the Cardinals to five hits Wednesday night for his 10th victory in 15 decisions.

Los Angeles got to Josep Bob Miller for one run in the first inning on Charlie Neal's double and Duke Snider's single. That was all Craig really needed but he got two more runs, in the eighth on Don Demeter's pinch double with the bases full.

Bob Skinner and Ronnie Kline of the Pirates put the brakes on the Braves, who had won 13 out of 16 before Wednesday. Skinner's single in the eighth off loser Joey Jay helped end a tie, and Kline stopped Milwaukee on six hits during the eighth innings he toiled to gain his 11th victory.

No. 44 for Mathews

Skinner's game-deciding single, which followed singles by Bill Virdon and pinch hitter Rocky Nelson, came after Eddie Mathews had tied the score by hitting his 44th homer with one on in the top of the eighth.

Cal Neeman took care of the Giants when he belted a two-out, 10th-inning homer for the Cubs off rookie Eddie Fisher. To give you an idea how things were going, Fisher was the seventh Giant pitcher.

Neeman, who had hit only two other homers all season, was one of six players to hit for the circuit. Willie Mays hit two, his second one coming in the ninth and tying the score at 8-8. Orlando Cepeda also homered for the Giants while Ernie Banks socked his 44th for the Cubs, and teammates Lee Walls and George Altman also connected. Reliever Don Elston scored his second victory in as many days and his 10th of the season.

Cincinnati and Philadelphia were idle.

Over in the American League, where the White Sox already have clinched the pennant, they enjoyed a day of rest along with the second-place Cleveland Indians. In the three games played, the Yankees beat the Senators, 5-1; the Red Sox downed the Orioles, 4-0; and the Athletics defeated the Tigers, 7-6.

Senators Didn't Suffer From Lack of Homers

WASHINGTON (AP)—The galloping hot last-place Washington Senators tied a major league record Wednesday night when rookie Bob Allison hit his 30th home run.

That gave the Nats three players with 30 or more homers. Harmon Killebrew 40, Bob Lemon 33, and Allison—matching the record.

Allison now is within one of tying Ted Williams' record for American League rookies, set in 1939.

Contracts were signed by netminder Jacques Plante, centre Henri (Pocket Rocket) Richard, right-wing Claude Provost and defencemen Jean-Guy Talbot, bringing to seven the total of last season's team who have returned to the fold.

HAMILTON (CP)—Howard Glenn, 222-pound tackle recently cut from the New York Giants of the National Football League, reported Wednesday to the Hamilton Tiger-Cats for his first workout.

LANE RE-HIRES GORDON

'Pal Joey' Still Best for the Job

CLEVELAND (UPI)—Joe Gordon, the man considered best able to succeed himself as manager of the Cleveland Indians, was off pheasant hunting today with a crisp, new two-year contract for the job stuffed in his pocket.

The contract, for $40,000 annually, a $10,000 increase, was announced in a stunning turnabout by general manager Frank Lane at a Cleveland press conference Wednesday.

Lane, who had been outspokenly critical of his field manager in a running feud of several weeks, decided he "couldn't think of anyone better able to succeed Gordon than Gordon himself."

There was speculation today that pressure from the fans, who overwhelmingly favored Gordon, was a factor in Lane's decision. The general manager denied it, however.

Gordon was given a standing ovation by a crowd of 54,000 fans who saw the Indians eliminated from the American League pennant race by the White Sox Tuesday night, 4-2. And when the announcement of Gordon's re-signing was made over the public address system at nearby Thistle Down race track Wednesday, it set off resounding cheers.

Gordon, who quit as manager last Friday after blasting Lane for publicly second-guessing his field decisions, said: "Frank and I had a long talk and I don't believe we ever had any serious misunderstandings. It was just a case of two hot heads and strong minds in the midst of a hot pennant race."

It's All Settled: Argos Get Dorow

VANCOUVER—The long-distance verbal battle between Toronto Argonauts and British Columbia Lions over quarterback Al Dorow was settled Wednesday by a straight player trade that sends the experienced signal-caller to Argos.

Dorow, who has played for two National League teams and two Western Canada clubs, began practicing with Argos after managing director Lew Hayman agreed to the Lions' terms in the hope that Dorow is the answer to the team's quarterback problem.

Lions will get one of several players named by their general manager, Herb Capozzi, and negotiation rights now held by Argos in an import in which the B.C. team is interested.

None of the players involved were named, but Argos will determine the man the Lions will get after Toronto's game here Saturday against Montreal Alouettes.

At the same time, Lions said

Even Strangers to Soccer Scan Weekly Scores

LONDON (CP). Every Saturday evening from August to April, millions of Britons sit by their radios with pencils poised to copy the day's football results.

They are the faithful customers of a thriving British industry—the football pools—busily assessing their chances of coming up with a winning line on their weekly coupon.

Last season they contributed nearly £90,000,000 to the pool companies, which paid out 30 per cent of the take in taxes, kept 20 per cent for themselves and distributed the rest in cash prizes.

The big money goes to the winners of the eight-match, treble-chance pool in which the customer tries to forecast which of the 64 Saturday games in the English and Scottish Leagues will result in draws.

The only things necessary are a pool coupon, a penny and a money order for the desired stake money. Knowledge of the form of the teams isn't vital. It may be helpful or it may just confuse the issue.

Stakes vary, but the largest pool promoters set a penny minimum for the points pool and twopence for the treble chance. The average stake is about five shillings, but there is no limit to the amount that may be wagered.

In the treble-chance pool the customer fills in circles opposite to eight matches he chooses he can make as many forecasts as his stake money allows—and mails the coupon, keeping a copy for himself. Then he sits back to await developments.

When the Saturday scores come through, he gives himself three points for every chosen match that ends in a tie. If the visiting side wins, he gets two points. For a home victory, he gets 1½.

A perfect score of 24 points for eight draws guarantees him his share of the first-prize money, to be split with any other entries matching his total. Lesser prizes go to the four next-best scores.

Occasionally the result can be spectacular. Last season a Belfast man won more than £300,000 when he was the only contestant to achieve a top score.

The customer can also go after lesser prizes for correctly predicting the outcome of six selected matches, for picking three draws, four victorious by visiting teams or a variety of other speculations including matches in which the teams are tied at halftime as well as at the final whistle.

The biggest pool company employs a staff of 10,000 to check its coupons in four halls and the winners are announced. It takes the company until the following Wednesday to determine the winning entries and to compute their share of the prize money.

An estimated 18,000,000 Britons try their luck in the pools at least once a season, of whom 10,000,000 are regulars. The only legal restriction is a ban on contestants under 21, a regulation that doesn't prevent thousands of minors from submitting entries in the name of a parent or an adult friend.

Nels Proves To Be Prophet

By HAL MALONE

"This Penworth is a real honest horse," Nels Jensen said just before the sixth race Wednesday at Sandown.

"Every time he steps on the track, he gives it all he has. If I could take his desire and disposition and put it in my horse (Antone) I'd really have something."

Owner, trainer and orator Jensen was not trying to tout anyone on to Penworth. But he proved to be quite a prophet nevertheless.

Overlooked by the majority of the 3,000 investors, Penworth went to the post at 7-2. The majority of the flock saw the filly Siwash Grace as a means of paying off the mortgage and sent her postward at 6-5.

When the school bell tolled, Prince Alfred was away first on a wing and prayer. Penworth was so far behind he was just about in time for the next race.

Under handling which can only be described as stimulating, Penworth and jockey Al Sherman came whooping down the stretch on the outside of Prince Alfred and Balach-Dorch. The man with the camera took their picture and Mr. Jensen was not only a fortune

Hole-In-One Would Look Better Today

SAN FRANCISCO (AP). Ken Venturi just naturally commanded the most attention as the Golden Gate-championships opened here today with a field of 154 golfers, but to top it off he shot a hole-in-one Wednesday.

The No. 3 iron tee-shot came on the 17th hole of Harding Park, scene of this $40,000 event. It was the fourth hole-in-one of his career.

Venturi won his last tournament at this course—where his dad heads the pro shop—the San Francisco City championship of 1936.

Venturi and Jim Ferec of Chrysalis River, Fla., tied for low-pro honors in the pro-amateur tournament Wednesday.

The low scoring team was long hitting pro George Barr and singer John Raitt who had a best ball of 61, including Raitt's handicap.

SOX IN GOOD SHAPE

CHICAGO (AP). Manager Al Lopez of Chicago White Sox is mum on his world series pitching plans but there probably isn't a betting man who would wager against the choice of Early Wynn as the starter in the opener.

Lopez, who spent his first day after winning the American League pennant scouting San Francisco against Chicago Cubs, said he feels his club "has a great chance in the world series."

His pitching rotation for the three-game, season-ending series at Detroit is all set. Billy Pierce will pitch the first game, Dick Donovan the second, and Wynn and Bob Shaw will split Sunday's assignment. In the meantime, star relievers Gerry Staley and Turk Lown and young Barry Latman are expected to see activity to keep in shape.

IN GOOD SHAPE

One thing Lopez isn't worried about is his team's physical condition.

"We'll be in top shape for the series," said Lopez, "and we're going to play the kind of ball that helped us win the pennant. Yes, we'll be running if we get the opportunity."

Lopez will not be with the team at the Detroit series. He'll be scouting either Los Angeles at Chicago or Milwaukee Braves who finish at home against Philadelphia.

BOSTON (AP). Ty Cobb picks Chicago White Sox to win the world series.

"Chicago will win the series," the baseball great said. "They are going to revolutionize baseball."

"You'll find that more emphasis will be placed on getting that one big run like we used to, and less on the long ball hitters."

"Mind of Ty, now, maybe I'm prejudiced, but the American League will win the series."

Cards' Chief One Game Shy Of Leo's Mark

ST. LOUIS (AP). Solly Hemus, just one shy of the record for the number of ejections from ball games in one season, was fined $150 Wednesday for his eighth such run-in with the umpires.

Warren Giles, the National League boss, notified the fiery little manager of the St. Louis Cardinals the fine was for his remarks to umpire Al Barlick Tuesday night. Giles also cited Hemus' "failure to leave the vicinity of your club's bench after being ejected."

Barlick thumbed out Hemus in the first inning against Los Angeles when he heatedly disagreed with a called fourth ball to Luke Spider.

The unofficial record of nine ejections is held by Leo Durocher.

Turk Team Qualifies

BUDAPEST (AP). With a surprise 3-2 victory Wednesday over the Hungarian champion Cesep of Budapest, the Turkish champion Fenerbahce team qualified for the second round of the European Soccer Cup tournament.

QUICK ACTION BY DOCKWORKERS SAVES FOUR

Family Sleeps as Boat Sinks

PRINCE RUPERT (CP) — Quick thinking and action by workers on an oil company dock Wednesday saved three adults and a two-year-old child from drowning in a summer boat. The boat, belonging to the Haugen employees of Slocan River Pledriving Company, which was still above water, spotted the boat sinking and with Bjorn Wick of Home Oil Distributors Ltd., rushed down to the waterlogged boat to see if anyone was aboard. Mr. Wick said he found all four persons, along with a black and white kitten, sleeping in the bow of the boat. ## CBC STORM EXPLODES ON 'AWFUL AUSTRALIA'

TORONTO (CP) — A Toronto freelance writer provoked a storm of angry telephone calls Tuesday night when she said on a CBC radio program she "loathed every minute" of a trip to Australia. Mrs. Margaret Teet had hardly left the air when the CBC switchboard was swamped with 100 calls, mostly from Australians living here. She said her main objection to Australia was its "lack of civilization."

TWO LITTLE TERRORS GO ON SMASH-UP SPREE

SIMCOE, Ont. (CP) — Provincial police took two boys, aged 10 and 12, into custody Wednesday after a wave of destruction that caused several thousand dollars damage.

Before the boys were picked up in Port Dover they had:

- Stolen a hammer and razor from a district tobacco farmer, ornaments from a grocery store and two bicycles from Simcoe.
- Broken into a car sales agency and painted bicycles, poured cans of paint over and inside two cars, splattered upholstery dye on desks and scattered office records.
- Started a fire in Port Dover that gutted a barn.

GOOD ROADS GROUP TOLD

Taxes on Cars, Gas to Increase

VANCOUVER (CP) — Every body wants good roads, but who's going to pay for them?

A taxation expert Wednesday forecast provincial gasoline and vehicle taxes will increase in the next decade and suggested that municipalities keep their fingers out of the pocketbooks of motor vehicle owners.

Two other speakers at the annual convention of the Canadian Good Roads' Association said the federal government should come into road building as it did with the Trans-Canada Highway.

F. H. Finnis of Toronto, municipal research associate of the Canadian Tax Foundation, said in the vast majority of cases the responsibility of collecting taxes from road users should be centralized with the provincial government with the possible exception of metropolitan areas.

He said provincial taxes now provide between 70 and 75 per cent of the funds for provincial highway construction. Unless the charges were increased they would provide only about 60 to 65 per cent in 10 years.

"It is reasonable therefore, to expect that provincial road use charges will be increased within the next decade and any additional burden in this same field by way of a municipal tax would be a most unpopular move."

Police Can't Force Drunk Out of Car

VANCOUVER (CP) — Burnaby Magistrate Douglas Hume ruled Wednesday that police cannot force an intoxicated person from a car into the street then charge him with being drunk in a public place.

Magistrate Hume made this clear when he rejected a guilty plea entered by Mrs. Wilhelm Maki and threw out a charge of public drunkenness.

Police charged the woman with being drunk in a public place after they had forcibly removed her from a car in which she was a passenger Sept. 8, court was told.

The woman's lawyer said she was not drunk in a public place, but was drunk in a car.

Magistrate Hume said: "She was placed there forcibly by the police. A car could not be considered a public place when it was being used for transportation, even though the passenger was drunk."

SCHOOL SEGREGATION ONCE LOCAL ISSUE

Former Leader of Chinese Here in Quiet Retirement

By HUMPHRY DAVY

If you enter a modest home at 1036 Balmoral Road, you will meet an elderly Chinese Canadian whose name has become a legend in Canada and China as a fighter for freedom and the rights of man.

In Victoria, he is better remembered by the older generation as the man who battled racial discrimination in the days when Victoria attracted as much attention as some communities in the southern United States today.

In the business world, he is the man who built the Douglas Hotel and other commercial buildings and owned some of the finest trotting horses in the Pacific Northwest.

The man is Lim Bang, formerly regarded as the unofficial mayor of Chinatown, now in retirement. He was once one of the wealthiest men in B.C. And in Peking, his name ranked high in government circles.

Vanished Suddenly

Mr. Lim retired from public life so suddenly some years ago that many of his old friends, some of them judges and lawyers, thought he had died.

When I called upon him this week, I found him hale and hearty. In his 75th year, his big interest is potted plants which include some rare Chinese orchids, (Cymbidium), fragrant delicate flowers from the Orient.

"I meet many people who are surprised to see me still around," said Mr. Lim with a chuckle. "I've been living pretty quietly these past years."

Then he hastily produced some newspaper clippings about his granddaughter, Betty Chan, of Saskatoon, one of Canada's top Highland dancers.

"See," he said, "Chinese girl good Scots lassie."

Historic Role

While many people know of Mr. Lim's achievements in Victoria, few today are aware he played a vital role in shaping the destiny of China in the first decade of the 20th century. He headed a secret Gee Kung tong (local Chinese Freemason) drive to raise funds for the Chinese Republic party. He was one of the party's key men and organizers outside China.

The money collected from the city's Chinese community and elsewhere in the country enabled the party to start the revolution in Kwong Tung on March 29, 1911. It finally led to overthrow of the ancient despotic Manchu dynasty.

Dr. Sun Yet Sen, the founder of the Chinese Republic, later acknowledged his debt to Mr. Lim by personally writing a letter of thanks.

In addition, the Chinese government presented the Victorian with classic scrolls written on gold paper. Awarding to Chinese custom, this is one of the highest honors it can bestow upon a person.

The scrolls are still in the possession of Mr. Lim.

Fought Race Hatred

In Canada Mr. Lim became famous for his stand against racial discrimination in B.C. during a period when the province suffered from a series of race riots before the First World War.

It started in 1907 when the Victoria school board passed a resolution excluding all Chinese children from public schools. The board's action became a national issue overnight.

Mr. Lim, Canadian-born son of a wealthy merchant, with Lee Mong Kow, who was also well known in Victoria, decided to fight the exclusion. They were determined to see that their children and those of their people were brought up as Canadians.

The two men started to raise funds to fight a test case in court.

Then they engaged Frederick Peters, K.C., an able lawyer to act on behalf of Lee Moon Wing, a citizen, who applied to the Supreme Court for a writ of mandamus to show cause why Chinese Canadian children should be barred from schools.

The Chinese community lost the legal battle before the Canadian courts.

Court Battle Lost

The Chinese community, however, was fortunate in having Mr. Peters as a lawyer. He was all for their cause and charged them only a small fee for his services. This left the Chinese with a large fund, which had been set aside for legal fees and services.

The fund was used to build the present Chinese Public School, which incidentally is the only building of Oriental architecture in Victoria. It so dismayed school board officials that they finally admitted Chinese children to schools.

But that was not the end of racial troubles. In 1923, the school board made another attempt at segregation. It wanted to separate Chinese and white children in schools. The Chinese children retaliated by boycotting the public schools. They attended their own school. Common sense finally prevailed and the school board gave in. The "Little Rock" episode became history.

Today, Mr. Lim still feels touchy about race discrimination.

"You know," he stated, "Confucius said: Learning should bear no difference in race, color or creed. That's what I believe. That's what I stand for."

'Never So Good' Mac Tells Poor

Promised 'Ample Compensation'

MANCHESTER, Eng. (CP). — Prime Minister Macmillan Wednesday toured the critical cotton towns of Lancashire, where votes hang by a razor's edge, and told electors not to worry about going on the dole.

An intellectual in a spruce grey overcoat, with white carnation in his lapel and a Grenadier Guards tie underneath, he took his campaign message to mill workers wearing shabby suits and overalls.

He told them "ample compensation" will be paid to employees muscled out of the contracting cotton industry, threatened by technological change.

He spoke in drab market squares, abandoned air raid shelters and cindered sites, framed against a skyline of smoke-puffed warehouses and tall chimneys.

Into this dispiriting setting, appropriate to a lecture on the

Tidal Wave Rips Lakehead As Grain Elevator Bursts

PORT ARTHUR (CP). —

More than 2,000,000 bushels of grain slithered into Lake Superior Wednesday night when an annex of a 7,500,000-bushel elevator in the east end of Port Arthur collapsed.

The collapse of the grain and loss of thousands of the annex plunging into the lake created a 12-foot wave which flooded a nearby pumping station, swept a tug sitting one-quarter mile out in the water onto the shore, and dislodged a half-dozen float-equipped planes moored near by. Rips log-rails also were in the collapse. Even at the conservative estimate of $1 a bushel, the grain damage was $2,000,000. There has been no indication what caused the collapse in the elevator, owned by the United Grain Growers Limited.

GRAIN RUINED

Eye-witnesses said there was little doubt that most of the 2,500,000 bushels of wheat, oats, barley and flaxseed went into the lake or were ruined

NEW 'FLYING TIGERS' FORMED TO AID LAOS

HONG KONG. (UPI). — A volunteer organization similar to the "Flying Tigers" of the Second World War has been organized in the United States to aid the Kingdom of Laos, it was reported today.

The South China Morning Post said an organization known as "American Flyers For Laos" would assist the tiny southeast Asian government in its fight against alleged Communist aggression.

The paper said formation of the organization was disclosed by Clifton L. Speer, a civilian airways operational specialist and a native of Corpus Christi, Texas.

New Program Urged For Drug Addiction

VANCOUVER (CP). — Canada should admit that it has failed to give proper treatment to drug addicts and should start a program to prevent new addictions, a Vancouver lawyer said Wednesday.

City prosecutor Stewart McMorran told a meeting of the English Speaking Union that new addicts could be discouraged aged "by taking the profit and glamor out of addiction."

"The people we should be aiming at are those who can't be got because they are never in possession of drugs but are gaining the profits," he said.

Mr. McMorran said that laws governing the problem should be revised "but I am not suggesting how the law should be re-written."

Jaycees Repeat Stand in Favor Of Fluoridation

Fluoridation of Victoria's water supply was urged by the Junior Chamber of Commerce Wednesday night in a motion stating that the Jaycees affirmed their stand of May 1955 in favor of fluoridation.

"We took this stand long before other organizations in this city had to push it through their membership," said Ray Rawnsley in an apparent reference to the senior Chamber of Commerce, which only recently endorsed fluoridation.

Bill Hughes recalled that in 1955 the Jaycees indicated the feasibility of fluoridation and several months later went on record in favor of it.

"Fluorides are colorless, odorless and tasteless," he said. "All it means is that Victoria

$500 Expenditure Questioned

An expenditure of $500 on a civic forum was questioned by Mr. Rawnsley since the finance committee had recommended only $200.

Brian Small, director of the civic affairs committee, said most of the $500 would be spent on advertising the forum, which last year debated the amalgamation of Victoria and the municipalities.

Bill Hewson moved an amendment to reduce this expenditure to $200 but the amendment was defeated.

"We cannot do the job properly on less than $500," declared Al Buchel, and Eric Charman said the civic forum was designed to stimulate interest and combat public apathy towards big civic issues.

"To attract the public you have to spend money on advertising," he said.

'World's Bosses Should all Meet'

WINNIPEG (CP)—A United States senator said Wednesday he does not believe his country and a few other big powers should be allowed to determine the fate of the world on their own.

Sen. Wayne Morse (Dem.-Oregon) advocated at a press interview an extraordinary session of the United Nations to which heads of all states should be summoned to present their proposal for obtaining a lasting peace.

"History shows that powerful nations sitting apart cannot produce peace," he said. "I don't believe countries like the U.S., England, France, Germany and Russia should determine world policies on their own. It should be done by all nations, large and small."

The senator was in Winnipeg to address the inaugural dinner of the state of Israel bond campaign. He made his

BOMB BLASTS MARK STRIKE IN ARGENTINA

BUENOS AIRES (REUTERS)—Scattered bomb explosions hit Argentina Wednesday as a strike by about 1,000,000 workers paralyzed industrial areas.

Two persons were injured in a blast at Cordoba City and police arrested two men carrying explosives in a Plaza, capital of Buenos Aires province.

The 48-hour strike of industrial workers, launched at midnight, was led by supporters of exiled dictator Juan Peron and Communists. It is in protest against a stiff government austerity program that has caused wages to trail rising costs.

An east-coast yachtsman seen just a few days ago stowing his pleasure boat in a garage for a month.

long trip: told an enquiring reporter that he was indeed getting ready for the best cruise of his life.

He offered an excellent argument in favor of September, October and November as the ideal time to take a cruise—good enough to make him wonder if sufficient number of yachtsmen here enjoy Puget Sound, Georgia Strait, and the mainland inlets at this time.

He said his children were away at school, and that he and his wife could get set for their own kind of boating.

No Ski-Towing

"We don't have to tow the kids water skiing," he said. "Fishing is good. We cruise along the coast during the hunting season. One of my hobbies is bird watching, and the water often is so calm I can set up my camera and tripod on deck and move in close for great color pictures of migrating birds stopping off on their way south."

"When we hear warnings on the radio we will head into one of the protected harbors, we have marked on our charts, put out our storm hooks, and either ride the storm out or go ashore. If it's just a day of rain, I'll read some of the books I haven't had a chance to get around to."

"We take extra sweaters for the cool mornings. There often are early morning fogs, so we keep fare until they burn off. Nights can be so clear that I have ever known as noise and bustle on a holiday, but for something different, tiny cove on Deep Bay, on the south side of Desolation Sound at the entrance to Hornby Channel.

"We will be anchoring in coves crowded with boats in summer, but practically deserted now, except for fish boats waiting to be loaded. The cool weather chases the bugs away. This is the prettiest time of year."

Certainly not everyone can put the children in a private school, lock up the store, and go off on a September or October cruise, but it could be done perhaps once every three or four years. With no schedule to keep, no pressure to risk bad weather, and supplies and equipment suited to the season, such a trip could be wonderful.

Solitude's Charm

"I remember a late-season trip made by three of us to the mainland north of Powell River, which had to be called off by sickness of one of the party just when it had given promise of being a gem."

Hassle Over Dead Girl

BOSTON (AP)—A week after pretty Lynn Kauffman, 25, died in Boston harbor's murky waters in a shipboard tragedy, the cause of her death today remains officially in dispute.

The medical examiner who performed an autopsy on the battered body of the talented assistant of a university professor, withheld his signature from the death certificate, saying circumstances have not been explained to his satisfaction.

But Capt. Joseph F. Fallon, head of Boston's police homicide squad, said he leans toward a suicide theory, with accidental death a second possibility.

"Her death did not come about from any violent assault perpetrated by anyone," Fallon said.

Dr. Michael A. Luongo, the medical examiner, declined both theories.

LYNN KAUFFMAN
... ship mystery.

He said Fallon's opinions had been conveyed to him, that he had studied the evidence and "in my opinion the suicide theory does not hold up."

Discounting both suicide and accident, Luongo said: "In my opinion this girl drowned after receiving multiple injuries severe enough to incapacitate her."

MULTIPLE IMPACTS

"The type of injuries and their distribution, and their multiplicity are such as to be consistent with multiple impacts rather than injuries in a fall from a ship, under the circumstances portrayed to me."

Fallon supported his theories by disclosing that upon her arrival here from Singapore aboard the Dutch steamship Utrecht the divorcee had received "very distressing news" which "we are certain drove her to the depths of despondency and caused her to alter her future plans."

Fallon declined to elaborate.

KIDNAPPERS STILL LOOSE

CORNWALL, Ont. (UPI)—Two kidnap and armed robbery suspects were still at large today after being hunted by a huge police posse for more than two weeks.

Warren Durning, 32, of Chesterville, Ont., and Frank Madison, 17, of Boston, have eluded hundreds of provincial policemen, bloodhounds and scores of roadblocks in their crime spree across Ontario.

They are wanted in connection with the armed robbery and abduction of two families in a 300-mile drive from Niagara-on-the-Lake to Prescott on the St. Lawrence Seaway.

Eisenhower Signs New Housing Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower signed the third-try housing bill Wednesday and the federal housing administration boosted the interest rate ceiling on its home-insured mortgage to 5 1/2 per cent.

Both actions, designed to keep the housing industry booming, had been expected. The $1,000,000,000 housing measure authorizes many government-backed housing programs which are out of funds. The FHA interest rate ceiling has been 5 1/4 per cent.

Central Family Court Proposal Has Commerce Chamber Backing

Victoria Chamber of Commerce voted solidly in favor of a central family court for Greater Victoria Wednesday night.

"It is a natural step forward in our development as a community," said Brian Small, director of the Jaycees' government and civic affairs committee, who moved a motion urging establishment of a family court.

Throughout Canada, he added, family courts have been developed as an extension of juvenile courts to include other cases involving children and family life. Victoria had a juvenile court but family matters were handled in police court.

"Family courts are fully responsible judicial tribunals which provide a special social approach to certain family problems."

PRIVATE HEARINGS

"Their methods of work include private hearings in which only those concerned are present; social investigations and probationary supervision or other follow-up services."

"In many cases through this counselling by special staff, provision is made for adjustment of family problems without official court action."

Mr. Small said the court was able to mediate in disputes and work towards adjustment of family problems.

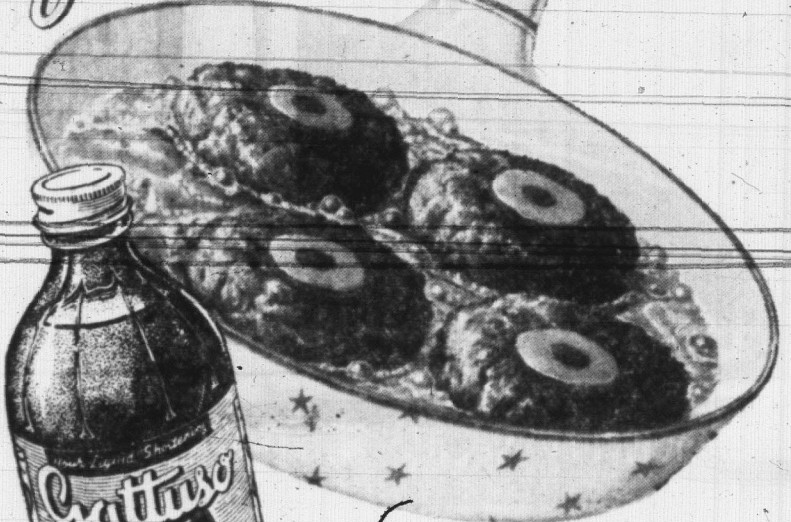

It also clarified financial responsibility for support of deserted wives and children, saving the community from supporting dependent persons who should be maintained by husbands wives or parents.

"Whether divorce should be handled by a family court is debatable," he said. "Such an innovation might result in an influx of cases which would push the normal work of a family court into the background."

Wild Dog Pack Kills South African Woman

VEREENIGING, South Africa (Reuters)—A Negro woman died in a hospital here from more than 100 bites inflicted by a pack of wild dogs, police reported today. They said the woman was attacked at Evaton in Transvaal. It was the first such pack ever to be reported in the area.

Franchise Fight Planned by TCA On Tri-City Run

Nuclear Blow Defence Test Successful

Only thing missing from recent nuclear exercises conducted by Canadian Army units in the south Island area was the actual atom bomb.

Early Wednesday morning a reported nuclear attack on Vancouver sent local army units into executing a prepared plan for survival.

The scheme finished this morning with the return of the troops from up-Island points to Victoria.

Training officer and "umpire" for the exercise, Major Vincent Lilley, formerly second-in-command of the PPCLI, said today he was "pleased" with the results of the scheme.

"It went better than we had expected," he said, "and I think you could say we achieved our aim."

"The exercise we did is one that actually could happen." Following the warning that Vancouver had been bombed, troops of the First Battalion PPCLI left in 123 trucks from Work Point barracks and moved up-Island.

RESCUE ROLE

This was in keeping with the army's role in the event of attack, of becoming mobile and re-entering bombed areas to carry out rescue operations. Their task was complicated by a second bomb, designed for Victoria but actually landing at Goldstream, cutting off a company of the troops.

The main body of troops moved up the Island and joined units of the Royal Canadian Engineers from Chilliwack at a rendezvous near Nanaimo.

The men "stood to in a national survival role" in readiness to participate in rescue operations in Vancouver but further orders arrived directing them back to the Victoria area and the battalion moved south at 5 p.m.

RCAF FLIGHTS

Included in the plan for re-entering the "devastated" area north of here were reconnaissance flights by the PPCLI senior officers and RCAF observers.

With the Malahat highway blasted out the troops were obliged to take logging roads to the Port Renfrew road and return by the Jordan River-Sooke roads.

Organized into four tightly knit rescue squads, the battalion moved into Victoria at 12.30 a.m. today after engineers had cleared the road from Colwood Corner.

Working in close co-operation at this time were ships of the Royal Canadian Navy's Pacific Command which, theoretically, stood off shore in an evacuation role.

The exercise was called off early this morning and the troops were employed in light rescue exercises and radiation detection drill at Work Point Barracks and the Bay Street Armouries.

Driver's Peeve At Traffic Sign Held No Defence

Motorist Douglas C. Bowen, 1661 Earle, carried his cause to the wrong man when he complained of a poorly placed traffic sign to Magistrate William Ostler in city police court today.

Bowen pleaded guilty to a charge of making a right turn on a red light at the Yates-Douglas "scramble" intersection, and was fined $10.

He said he did not see the sign prohibiting the movement and suggested it be moved to the other side of the intersection where it could be more readily observed.

"That may be a good suggestion, but you're making it to the wrong person," the magistrate said. "It should go to the police commission or city engineer's department."

Larger Aircraft Will Be Employed

Assurance that Trans-Canada Air Lines will fight to hold its Vancouver-Victoria-Seattle franchise was given here today by Herbert W. Seagrims, vice-president in charge of operations.

"If Victoria wants us, we want the service," he said, "and the TCA shuttle."

He said there is only a slight margin of profit in the triangle service, but "Victoria has been a good friend" and TCA never wanted to relinquish it.

"There was never a great deal of outward support until we were in danger of abandoning. From that point on, we found a good many friends in camp." He said TCA has been in business here a long time and "it had never occurred to us to pull out until we were challenged."

So far as the PWA application is concerned, "If the air transport board feels there is someone more competent, we are in their hands." But Mr. Seagrims made it plain TCA would oppose the PWA application.

Brief Claims 'Record of Safety'

"We will intervene. We have an obligation to the public if Victoria wants us, we want the service."

A city brief to the air transport board makes it clear TCA is wanted here because of its "proven record of safety, satisfaction and service."

In April PWA asked the board for three or four months additional time to study types of aircraft before resubmitting its application. Meanwhile the west coast firm has expanded prairie operations and is studying further expansion there. Local sources say the firm has not yet resubmitted.

Mr. Seagrims promised that if TCA remains in possession of the franchise, new and larger aircraft will be employed also by his company.

"If the air transport board ruling is in our favor, in about a year we'd be putting Viscount equipment on this service." He explained these aircraft carry 44 passengers, but on a short haul they can be adapted to carry 66.

He said the DC3s now in service, which carry 28, "are running back and forth like street cars."

Mr. Seagrims was non-committal about earlier indications of a fare increase when the Viscounts are introduced on this service. He said he

Big Demand for Qualified Pilots

Mr. Seagrims, who is 47, joined TCA as a pilot 22 years ago. He was one of the first five pilots employed.

In 1944 he became assistant supervisor of flight operations at Winnipeg. His rising star now has him headquartered at Montreal.

He offered career advice to willing youngsters — "The expansion of the industry over the years has created a continual demand for pilots. I can see no change in the situation. We are still hiring groups of pilots two or three times a year."

He said age of new pilots is usually between 20 and 25.

Mayor Turns Thumbs Down On Waterfront City Hall

A proposal that Victoria buy the Crowe Gonnasson property for $250,000 as a City Hall site met a cool reception today.

"I take a dim view of it," said Mayor Percy Scourrah. "I still think the Cathedral Hill area is the right spot."

He was to name a three-man committee today to make a continuing study of the need for a new civic headquarters building.

Mayor Scourrah said he was not criticizing Ald. M. H. Money for suggesting the mill property.

DOG WITHOUT A NAME is this lively three-months-old crossbred collie, a former stray, now residing at the SPCA shelter and pound at 111 Wilson Street. He is on particularly friendly terms with Wing Cdr. Philip Wilkinson, new manager of the SPCA in Victoria, which finds good homes for dogs and cats. (Photo by Strickland)

RCAF VETERAN HERE

New SPCA Chief Wants New Site

Wing Commander Philip Wilkinson, new manager of the Victoria branch, Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, is looking for a new site for the SPCA shelter and pound.

He believes the present premises on the industrial reserve at 111 Wilson Street are too close to the city for the best kind of operation.

For one thing, the SPCA does not own the Wilson Street site. It is leased from the city and Wing Commander Wilkinson would like to acquire suitable land away from the built-up areas.

"In any case," he said, "we shall have to move from here eventually as the site is under consideration for a city heli port."

32 YEARS IN RCAF

The new SPCA manager retired from the Royal Canadian Air Force recently after 32 years' service in many parts of Canada, the Northwest Territories and overseas.

"I took this SPCA job for two reasons," he said. "Firstly, I am a life-long animal lover. Secondly, I believe there is a lot to be done here and I like a challenge."

From his small neat office, hung with pictures of dogs, horses and cats, Wing Commander Wilkinson looks out onto an assembly of wire-fenced enclosures in which are stray dogs, stray cats and animals which may have been ill-treated by their former owners.

"Much cruelty to animals is unintentional," he said. "For instance people will go away for the weekend and leave their cat locked up in a small room with one plate of food. They do not realize the cat will eat up all the food."

Washington State Ferries to End City Run Monday

Washington State Ferry service from Victoria to Port Angeles will end Monday for the winter months.

The ferry Kalakala is not licensed for winter operation in Juan de Fuca Strait.

A new service planned by Black Ball Transport to start this winter will be delayed because of a strike by U.S. west coast shipyard workers. The ferry Coho, under construction at Seattle for Black Ball, was nearly completed when work was halted by the strike.

Major Refit Job For HMCS Skeena

HMCS Skeena, first St. Laurent class destroyer escort to be commissioned on the west coast, is at HMC Dockyard for a major refit after 36 months of service.

When refit is completed, she will have an entirely new crew. At present, 77 crew members have been with her since commissioning.

ASK The TIMES

Q—Will you please tell me the amount of yearly salary that is paid to high school teachers in Victoria and other cities of Vancouver Island?

W.M.E.

A—In Victoria, there are three classifications for high school teaching certificates, over a 12-year period: secondary conditional, secondary basis and secondary advanced. Salaries range from $3,800 to $7,260 per year, depending on qualifications. Salaries in other Vancouver Island centres vary and are set by individual school boards. If you are interested in any specific city, you could write the school board for further information.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask the Times," Editor questions and answers will be published daily.

... HERE AND THERE ... With NORMAN CRIBBENS

There is something of the flavor of the Old West in this nifty anecdote from Murrow, County Limerick, in the land where the shamrock grows.

One night, it seems, the pure moist air of this mountain-side village was so polluted with the fumes of illicit Irish whiskey that all the dogs were drunk.

"They were tottering around in circles and falling asleep in the road," writes Jim Mulvaney in a letter to his friend Arthur V. Sullivan of Esquimaux.

Cause of all the "thrubble" was a 32-gallon cask of steaming potheen (potato whisky). It was doing good business in a disused cellar until the one and only Murrow policeman followed his nose to the scene of the crime.

Which reminds me that two bottles of Irish stout, said to have been dropped in mid-Atlantic, have just turned up on our shores.

Corporal James Murray of 496 Peters, fished one out of the water at Pedder Bay after he had failed to catch a single fish.

The bottle was coated with lead and tightly corked. Inside was a label stating it had been dropped in mid-Atlantic last January to "celebrate" the bicentenary of Guinness' stout, 1759-1959.

Two days later a second bottle bearing similar credentials arrived at Holland Point and was picked up by Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Evans of 112 Croft.

That's enough about drink for one day, except to offer congratulations to Bob Ferguson of the Humboldt Street liquor store.

Bob won the B.C. Government Employees' fishing derby and a $50 prize after landing 28 pounds seven ounces of salmon at Brentwood.

About those haircuts! Al Carlson of the Empress Hotel barber shop says he is opposed to raising the price from $1.25. But lately he's been doing some figuring.

"There are 160,000 hairs in the average human head," he muses, "and we cut 'em for $1.25. The cost per hair makes this a pretty cheap operation."

Now may we have a word from the lawn mowers?

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Effective Sept. 29 the United States Immigration office will be located in new quarters at the CPR dock, 468 Belleville Street. Office hours will be from 8 a.m. to 4.30 p.m.

First fall meeting of the Hammond Organ Club will be held tonight at 8 in the Newstead Hall, Fort Street.

Soloist at the free, public meeting will be Doreen Jackson.

Earlier-announced plans by Labor Minister Lyle Wicks to move his home to Haney will be completed Tuesday. He will spend weekends with his family and during the week will live in an apartment here. Haney is the centre of Dewdney riding, which Mr. Wicks represents.

RCMP detachment building at Quadra and Burdett will be demolished to make way for the proposed new Victoria courthouse. New offices elsewhere in the city have yet to be located. The move does not affect the provincial headquarters in the old Windermere Hotel on Courtney Street, a department spokesman said today.

Royal Winnipeg Ballet To Appear Here Oct. 19

Royal Winnipeg Ballet will appear at the Royal Theatre, Monday, Oct. 19. It was announced today. The troupe will be on a tour around the three western provinces. It will appear at Up-Island centres of Port Alberni and Courtenay.

Three new original ballets are in the company's repertoire and presumably at least one of these will be danced

Killer Whale Pack Observed By Fishermen

A huge pack of killer whales, numbering well over 100 and covering "miles" of Juan de Fuca Strait, was seen heading for the Pacific Ocean Wednesday by scores of fishermen.

Ernie W. Davies, 51, of 212 Menzies, said that in a lifetime spent here he had never seen anything to equal it.

"Myself and a friend were off shore from Otter Point when we saw them at about 4 p.m.," he said. "Our boat is 12 feet long, and we judged they were from 12 to 20 feet in length."

"They were travelling in what you'd call line abreast. It was about a mile from the leaders to the ones farthest behind, and you could see them for miles toward the U.S. shore. For all we know they stretched from one shore to the other across the strait."

Their high, sharp, triangular dorsal fins and white patches were clearly visible, he said. Several other fishermen in the vicinity saw them pass, he said, and judged their numbers the same as he.

"I also checked with a tugboat captain, and he said they were killer whales," Mr. Davies said.

The killer whale, or Grampus Orca, travels in packs, but rarely in such large numbers. Experts have found little evidence that it willingly attacks man.

Here's What Exercise Can Do for You—Try It!

I have, known for a long time, that regular daily exercise can bring results little short of magic. I know this because of observing pupils in my classes and also because of my own experience.

Over and over again women who came to classes to improve their figures were astonished to find that after exercising stiff joints had become comfortable, dragging fatigue had disappeared and that they no longer were troubled with constipation.

Swimming and tennis and golf and ping-pong (if it is played at all expertly) are good. The latter is a good mild exercise for beginners. The trouble is that so many folks do not take time for sports. Few women make a walk a part of their daily life. This is one of the great benefits of special exercises done at home. Another is the charming effect they have on the figure.

Once you form the habit of these you will not mind because you will enjoy the resulting pick-up in energy and beauty. If you do them to music, a radio, a record player or Hi-Fi, they will not seem laborious.

In recent years more and more physicians have been recommending exercise in a much more serious way than before. There is evidence that lack of exercise may play a part in hardening of the arteries and in susceptibility to heart attacks. Many studies have indicated this.

It was found recently, farmers had the lowest rate for heart disease while such people as garment workers, chemists, telegraph operators and others whose work is sedentary were amongst the highest. Even the woman in the home does not get the exercise she once did because of modern conveniences and because she rides rather than walks everywhere.

HOW YOUR LIVER BILE HELPS BREAK DOWN FATS IN THE DIGESTIVE TRACT

Laboratory tests have now proved that liver bile emulsifies fats... actually breaks them down. It is an established fact that when liver bile is added to fatty solids, the fats are broken down and form a smooth, easy-flowing mix.

In your digestive tract, liver bile helps break down fats the same way. Many of the foods you eat reach the digestive tract as undigested fatty solids. Your golden liver bile helps break down these fats... for easier and more complete digestion.

Carter's Little Liver Pills' exclusive formula of vegetable ingredients relieves irregularity gently and effectively. At the same time, it actually improves the flow of liver bile needed to break down fats in your digestive tract.

So when you feel sluggish, head-achy, nervous and need a laxative, take Carter's Little Liver Pills. Remember, Carter's not only relieves irregularity, but actually improves the flow of liver bile. Get Carter's Little Liver Pills today!

DEAR ABBY...

Nothing, Honey!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: What can you do with a husband who won't do anything but eat and potatoes?

I've been married for three years and that's all I've cooked. My husband refuses to try anything new. He says he doesn't like it before he's even tried it. So, naturally, I've lost all interest in cooking.

I'm ready to call it quits. How do other women solve this problem? Or am I fighting a losing battle?

MARY LOUISE

DEAR MARY LOUISE: Some women don't know when they're well off. Don't complain because your husband is too EASY to please. Just get a good cook book and discover the variety of exciting things you can do with meat 'n' potatoes. When hubby comes home he'll always know WHAT'S cooking—but not HOW.

DEAR ABBY: I am an 18-year-old girl and thanks to my wonderful parents and religious training I've earned a good reputation.

Abby, honestly, I was brought up to believe that girls who let boys "paw" them were the losers. Please don't tell me that boys do not marry this kind of girl because I have been going to quite a few weddings lately.

I just broke off with a boy. The reason? He got tired of an occasional kiss. When I refused to give him more, he called me a "prude" and said, "No guy wants a girl like you. He is the third boy I broke up with for this reason. Is there no reward for being good?"

DEAR PROUD: And you have something to be proud of! The reward for "being good" is a clear conscience and an enviable reputation. The cornerstone of a solid marriage is mutual respect. If you lose a boy because you refuse to give in to his selfish desires you haven't lost much. Just keep on doing what you're doing!

CONFIDENTIAL TO MID-YEAR GRAD: Date others. Your architect sounds like he has plans of his own.

What's your problem? For a personal reply, write to ABBY, care of this paper. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

ON ETIQUETTE

THIS WAS NO PICNIC

A couple in our neighborhood invited several other couples to a picnic supper in their yard, and told us we weren't to bring any food. But at the end of the evening they told us how much each couple owed for the "eats." I don't mind paying, but shouldn't the hostess have told us at the start that we were going to split the expenses?

Louise Davis answers: Yes. Your hostess should have made it clear when she invited you that the cost of the food would be prorated. The word picnic doesn't mean Dutch treat. When your hostess said not to bring anything, it was obvious to you that the picnic was to be "on the house." Her tactless invitation resulted in an offence to her guests.

YOUR FRIENDS ARE MY FRIENDS

In giving a party for a bride-elect, is it all right to ask if she has any particularly good friends she would like invited, even if I have never met them? I am quite a bit older than the bride and know very few of her intimates.

Louise Davis answers: The phrase, "friends of yours are friends of mine" would apply. Ask the bride for a list of some of her close friends whom she would like you to invite.

GA Contribute Eight Thousand For Woman's Auxiliary Projects

A sum of $8,000 was contributed towards projects of the Women's Auxiliary of the Anglican Church of Canada by the Girls' Auxiliary during past year. This was reported by Mrs. Phillip Carrington, secretary, at the Wednesday morning session of the WA annual meeting being held in Memorial Hall, Christ Church Cathedral this week. Mrs. Carrington urged that all GA members work hard on the parochial level. She noted that leadership guidance was most necessary for the girls, and praised the staff that had run Camp Pontiac, in the Diocese of Ottawa, a leadership camp attended by GA members.

The GA of the Diocese of Monrovia were awarded a silver cup for missionary work and special improvement, by Mrs. Carrington.

LITTLE HELPERS

Mrs. I. H. Whitley, little helpers secretary, reported that a sum of $25,365.55 had been contributed by the children during the year.

Junior auxiliary secretary, Mrs. Phillip H. Woolcombe, displayed work illustrating the Benedictine, also dolls and quilts made by the branch members.

Total assets for the year were $705,787. This was announced by Mrs. A. G. Wrigglesworth, treasurer. She noted the United Pledge had been over-subscribed by $15,000, and self-denial fund increased by $1,000. Latter is collected on St. Andrew's Day each year.

A sum of $4,000 was allotted to work in Indian schools reported Dorcas secretary, Mrs. H. O. McAndrew. Plans for coming year were that there be less clothing given children and more effort and time spent on church influence, and a good Christian background for them. Dorcas work in the dioceses amounted to $173,572.02.

SUBSCRIPTIONS

Rev. T. D. B. Ragg took noon day prayers prior to opening of afternoon session. Secretary-treasurer of the WA magazine Living Message reported an increase of 1,400 subscriptions; 50,000 subscriptions is goal for 1960.

Gifts were presented to three members of Dominion Board who are retiring, Mrs. Carrington, Mrs. E. Laidler and Mrs. J. D. Martin. President Mrs. Britton Osler made presentations.

Following afternoon sessions delegates were taken on a scenic drive, stopping off for dinner at St. Stephen's Church, Mt. Newton.

Today conferences were held for members.

Speaker From Japan

A woman who has spent years training students at a teacher training mission school in Japan, names three prime requisites for any teacher. They are faith, hope and love, declares Miss Frances Hawkins, principal of the Ryugo Kindergarten Teacher Training College in Nagoya, Japan.

Miss Hawkins was guest speaker at Wednesday afternoon session of the annual meeting of the WA held in Memorial Hall, Christ Church Cathedral.

Her school is no ordinary one. It teaches Christian virtues in a country where 700 new religions have appeared since the last war. Many of the teachers are non-Christians who volunteer their services. It's running expenses depend on remembrance and offerings of women in the auxiliaries of the Anglican Church in Canada.

GREAT PROGRESS

Tremendous progress in the life of the school was reported by Miss Hawkins. The past year marked opening of a new gymnasium. There is now a special place for regular chapel, games indoors and meetings. Another milestone marked by the school this year was the turning of sod for new cathedral. When it is completed the school gymnasium will become the church hall, and the diocesan centre.

"Although some missionary schools in Japan are in some measure self-supporting, ours can never be. Other schools tax the parents heavily. We cannot. For this reason we will always be dependent on the monthly cheque from the WA, and bursaries from the GA," Miss Hawkins explains.

Great destiny of the school was envisioned by its principal. "Of our 168 graduates, 145 are Christians. They go out to teach thousands of young Japanese. In our school they learn Christian love, and in their homes, they teach it through being living examples, and by telling of the life of the Christ Child." Concluding she said, "The children are the hope of the future."

"Indians Are Also Citizens"

"Let the government do it" attitude of most Canadians toward the Indian was soundly criticized Wednesday morning by F. E. Anfield, Assistant Commissioner of Indian Affairs of B.C., speaking to the Dominion Board of the Women's Auxiliary of the Anglican Church of Canada, meeting in Christ Church Cathedral Memorial Hall.

"We think of the Indian as a ward of the government, as a minor. He is not. He is a citizen."

Rural Award

The Girls' Auxiliary of St. John's Anglican Church, Courtenay, was awarded a prize for their entry in a social work competition held for GA groups across Canada recently. Winners were announced at Wednesday morning session of the Dominion meeting of the Women's Auxiliary being held in Victoria this week. Entries were for best social service project submitted.

zen. In many cases, he has a vote. "We must keep up Indians are on the move intellectually, socially, and economically. They are the fastest growing group in Canada," the speaker pointed out.

"Each community has a responsibility to its new citizens, and that means the Indian. As more and more become urbanized, the community must step in and help him to help himself. He must lose his dependence on the government and become a regular citizen."

"Main problem," Mr. Anfield said, "is that Indians don't know Canadians. They don't understand what we expect of them, or what we are trying to do. He makes a tremendous decision to leave the life he knows to live in towns where the work is. He must solve his problems himself, and he will."

ten in report by any branch of the GA. Miss Florence Lamb, Dominion supervisor, announced other winners. They are St. Stephen's Kazabazua, Montreal; and Armstrong, B.C., for rural branches. Urban branches included St. Michael's and All Angels, Calgary; St. Michael's, Sillery, P.Q. and St. John's, North Sydney, N.S. Diocese of Nova Scotia won the GA banner for membership.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Petticrew of Pemberton Road, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary recently. The couple were married September 16, 1909, in the Presbyterian Church in Nanaimo by Rev. McRae. Mrs. Petticrew is the former Donald McCush, Wick, Cathness, Scotland, and her husband is from Kilmarnock, Scotland. He came to Canada in 1887. ## Juvenile Curfew Studied

From CP Dispatches

KELOWNA — A three-man committee has been formed here to study the possibility of implementing a 9:30 p.m. curfew for children up to 16.

The move followed an RCMP report of increased juvenile delinquency in the last year in this centre of 30,000.

The report also suggested an increase to 11 from seven in the strength of the RCMP detachment here and added that the present curfew bylaw was not workable.

MIXED UP

KELOWNA — D'Arcy Arance, 19, was in satisfactory condition in hospital Wednesday after suffering lacerations and a fractured leg when caught in a cement mixer. He was inside the mixer cleaning a conveyor belt when a fellow workman threw the wrong switch, starting the machine.

MEN SUE SIU

VANCOUVER — Four seamen who were expelled from the Seafarers' International Union Ltd. for allegedly joining a rival union are taking their case to court.

Ernest Jarak, Donald Alarie, Arthur Palmer and Bill Thomson were accused by the SIU of joining the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Transport and General Workers (CLC).

They are suing the SIU for a declaration that the expulsion was illegal and to recover damages for being deprived of employment.

'DAD KILLED HIM'

PRINCE RUPERT — "My dad murdered a man," a 14-year-old boy said in Assize Court here Wednesday.

Jackie Prince was testifying in the trial of his father, John Baptiste Prince, 35, charged with murder, the March 27 knife-slaying of Grant McEwen, 43.

The boy's statement was heard by an all-male jury during cross-examination by defence counsel T. G. Bowen-Collhurst of Victoria.

Jackie said he saw his father "stab McEwen in the chest" and wipe the blood-stained knife blade with his fingers.

BOXER INJURED

PORT COQUITLAM — Ken McPhee, 32, former Vancouver Golden Gloves champion boxer, was reported in good condition here after accidentally touching a 12,000-volt power line Wednesday.

McPhee, now a telephone lineman, was working alone on a pole. The charge knocked him unconscious, but his safety belt prevented him falling 90 feet to the ground.

CODE VIOLATED

CHILLIWACK — Ed Brewster, 18, was sentenced to 20 days when he pleaded guilty Wednesday to theft of under $50. He was charged after stealing a copy of the Criminal Code of Canada from the public library here.

CATCH SLASHED

VANCOUVER — An industry-wide strike was blamed by the department of fisheries Wednesday for a sharp reduction in the value of fish landed in British Columbia during August.

A monthly report issued by the department said that the catch, valued at $7,564,000, was about half the value compared to the same month last year. It also said this year is an off-year in the sockeye salmon cycle.

SEARCH FRUITLESS

HOPE — Police unsuccessfully searched 20 miles of the banks of the Fraser River near here Wednesday for five persons who have been missing in the area since the weekend and feared drowned.

Missing were Mr. and Mrs. George Chapman and Arthur Pat of Yale and Aldo Busanto and Ed Pando of Suzann. Police said they have not been able to locate anyone who saw the party.

Poison-Killing Widow Insane, Say Experts

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Annette Donovan Lyles, 34-year-old widow accused of four arsenic-poison murders, was called insane Wednesday by two psychiatrists who used truth serum and hypnosis to probe her subconscious mind.

But state attorneys described her as a capable, cunning mass murderer, in opposing commutation of her death sentence for the poison murder of her nine-year-old daughter, Marcia. The state board of pardons and paroles, after a two-day clemency hearing, took under advisement attorneys' plea to reduce Mrs. Lyles' sentence to life imprisonment.

Mrs. Lyles also is accused in the deaths of two former husbands, Ben Lyles Jr. and Joe Neal Gabbert, and a mother-in-law, Mrs. Julia Y. Lyles.

Mrs. D. Mansell, of Vancouver, B.C., with her Inglis Royal pair

Why 136,969 Canadian housewives were glad to pay more for Inglis automatic washers and dryers

Inglis pioneered the manufacture of the automatic washer and dryer in Canada. They have concentrated on laundry equipment (and glass lined water heaters) ever since. The engineers at Inglis will tell you that they are interested in selling one thing only, when it comes to washers and dryers. Clean laundry, all done automatically!

This is exactly what you are assured of when you buy Inglis. It is perhaps the most important reason why (to date) 136,969 women were very happy to pay more to get Inglis. Now, you want to know the other reasons.

Let us join Mrs. Mansell (above) as she uses her Inglis Royal pair. Notice that washer and dryer are identical in size and shape.

First, she selects the washing cycle that best suits the load she wants to wash.

(Two of these ten cycles are Wash'n Wear actions that absolutely refuse to put wrinkles into wash and wear garments. The Inglis secret? As the wash water intermittently drains away, it is immediately replaced by cold water. This allows the garments to cool while in suspension; thus restoring the wrinkle resistance of the fabric.) Having selected the correct button, Mrs. Mansell puts in her soap or detergent and switches the washer on. This is what happens. The washer fills to the proper level at the proper water temperature for the type of fabric in the machine. Then, it selects the right washing speed (this is very important), the exact time needed to do the wash, the correct rinse water temperature, and the proper, safe spin-dry speed. This is all done automatically.

The Inglis Royal even has a water selector that saves water on partial loads by using just the amount of water needed for the size of the wash.

The moment Mrs. Mansell switches on her Royal, the "Sani-Sun" germicidal lamp comes on. This remarkable device helps destroy common germs while it gives the clothes a sweet, fresh air fragrance. At the same time, the built-in lint filter goes to work and works all the time the wash is on! Furthermore, the Inglis filter works just as effectively on partial loads.

Perhaps the most popular feature with housewives is the Inglis Suds and Water Saver. When big loads are being washed, hot sudsy water is ingeniously pumped into Mrs. Mansell's laundry tub for re-use with the next load. All she does is press the button marked "SUDS" and only the clean water is pumped back. No, the sudsy water doesn't cool off because the thick suds form a very effective insulation. Inglis engineers discovered this while developing the amazing Suds and Water Saver.

The Inglis Royal also has wonderful things like an automatic built-in rinse conditioner dispenser; Free Flow draining, in which wash and rinse water are drained away from the clothes—not through them; four automatic water temperature selections—hot, medium, warm and cold.

Her wash completed, Mrs. Mansell puts it into her Inglis Royal-dryer. It has no less than eight automatic cycles to fit every fabric need.

She turns the dial to the number she selects from the Console Fabric Guide. She starts the dryer and this amazing machine automatically sets the temperature, drying time and cooling-fluffing time.

True, other dryers have somewhat similar features, so what made Mrs. Mansell—and many others—choose Inglis? For one thing, the Royal has a Moisture Minder that automatically shuts off the dryer at "dry enough." Secondly, there are no dangerous hot spots in an Inglis—the heat is tempered before it sweeps through the clothes in a scientific pattern.

Thirdly, a built-in sani-lamp that drenches clothes with "sunshine freshness," without the danger of fading, and gives them a pleasing scent. It also helps sanitize the garments. Finally, the fabulous Wash'n Wear Time Cycles, which provide a 10-minute fluffing, cooling off action at room temperature—the only way you can dry Wash'n Wear garments in a dryer without wrinkles!

Mrs. Mansell, and 136,968 other housewives, are very glad that Inglis concentrates on laundry equipment, and is consequently able to produce the very best and most efficient washers and dryers in Canada.

All that's left for you to do is visit your Inglis dealer. He will show you all three Inglis automatic models—the Royal, Citation, and Superb. Did you know that the lowest priced Inglis models give you more features than the highest priced models of other makes? Do see your Inglis dealer.

CONFRONTED FOR EIGHT HOURS a shift by the complexities of the Victoria fire department alarm system, operator Dan Bresenham here takes a call by telephone in the department's newly-located nerve centre. To his left is an office inter-

com; immediately above the telephone switchboard an inter-hall public address system; to his right a two-way radio with upright microphone and dual tape recorders to take down conversation by phone and radio. (Times photo by Strickland)

LONG WAY FROM OLD BREWERY WHISTLE

Electronic Age Fire Alarm Plan

By AB KENT
Times Police Reporter

For a brewery, a loud steam whistle works fine, but for a fire alarm and communications system it rates no better than a loud brewery whistle.

Sixty years ago the old Phoenix Brewery whistle served a dual role, calling men to and from work, and sending volunteers, with small boys underfoot, to the city's fires. Fortunately, fires today are attended not only by a modern, efficient, full-time brigade of firemen and equipment, but because of electronic aids fire-back of your hand, and whether an alarm (often just a scant address and plea for help) is to a house, multiple dwelling, hotel, restaurant or what have you. That's the tough part of this job.

Moving Forgotten

The human element of error forever lurks somewhere at the other end of a telephone, as in the case of a woman who had a grease fire licking up her kitchen wall. She phoned an alarm, correctly stating the type of fire.

But the fire trucks could find no sign of a fire at the address she gave. Minutes passed as the firemen answered the call queried the alarm room by radio, and meanwhile the woman anxiously called back wondering why the firefighters were taking so long. It turned out she had recently moved from Steele Street to an address near Glenlands School, nearly two miles away, and although she denied it, she unconsciously gave her former house number.

Alarms arrive either by telephone or telegraph from those little red boxes on street corners, or industrial sprinkler systems connected in a similar manner with the fire department.

The operator follows eight basic steps within a matter of seconds:

1. Answer the phone, giving the time of day (this is important to the tape recorded conversation in case of later query). Alternatively the operator may hear the gong and watch a tape-punched code of a telegraph alarm.

Simultaneous to the emergency phone ring or telegraph gong the operator rings a general alarm gong heard in every fire hall. This alerts the watch-on-duty, starting them into action.

2. Find out the nature of the alarm.

3. Telephone headquarters by direct line to talk to the chief, deputy chief or assistant chief, one of whom is always within immediate reach.

4. The chief or other officer instructs what to send.

5. The operator calls the appropriate hall, closest to the source of trouble, pulls the public address switch for that particular hall and calls it by the direct phone, the message going over both wires so that not only the officer in charge but also the firemen know what to expect.

6. Having dispatched equipment to the fire, the operator calls a standby hall to fill in for the apparatus answering the alarm.

7. The police are called, also by direct phone, in case an ambulance is needed, or to handle traffic guard hose lines and property.

8. Equipment has meanwhile reached the scene and the radio network takes over, first with equipment at the scene reporting arrival, or the chief calling in to return unneeded trucks or asking for others.

Because of constant maintenance it is unlikely one system should fail, let alone all four.

To the suggestion that a proposed all-emergencies telephone dial 999—be located in the alarm room, one operator proudly volunteered:

Tads Frustrated

Modern alarm mechanism did away with the small boy hazard along with the steam whistle. Alarms travel so fast today that equipment generally is at the scene of a fire before most people are aware there is one.

Tape recordings prove time and again that apparatus is in operation within two minutes of an alarm coming from anywhere in Victoria city. Three minutes is an exception.

Of course, this has been the case for years, but with the erection of a new fire hall at Yates and Camosun this year, fire commissioners decided it was time to unite the alarm room with the rest of the department.

Until 8 a.m. June 8, when the new room went into service, Victoria's alarm room was located in the lofty, lonely top floor of the city police station, back to back with the old Coroner Street main fire hall.

Tangle of Cables

Reason for this was pretty sound. The police station had been the only suitable fireproof building in the city.

A complex of heavy electric, radio, telephone and telegraph cables linked the room with the city's three fire halls, police charge office, street boxes, warehouse and department store sprinkler systems and other vital points.

Basically, this remains unchanged apart from the replacement of outmoded equipment, but now its former cramped, austere, old-fashioned layout is transformed into a bright, airy, more efficient arrangement of both location and machinery.

And its home in the fire hall—once a sagging, decrepit relic by city hall—is now a sweeping, modern, fireproof building near the contemporarily-styled Central Junior High School.

The alarm room operators are men who are constantly alert in anticipation of trouble. A new man taking over the job is apt to crack under the strain until he learns to live with it.

As if dealing with genuine alarms were not enough they are stuck, too, with the crack pots and time-wasters.

No Chances Taken

"With him, it's always people falling out of windows, always the biggest tragedy."

The fire department means to take this sort of thing in stride, but with the sober awareness that a full-out emergency run to such a deliberate false alarm could some day end in tragedy for a fireman or other innocent citizen, should a fire break have an accident en route.

Besides being completely familiar with every aspect of the department, alarm room operators must know their own complex equipment, much of it a mystery to the average fireman.

And as Harper says, "You must know the city like the

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Perfect host Frank Sinatra had ex-wife Ava Gardner stop off in his New York apartment on his way to visit the same old ex-wife Nancy's also used. Frank's not due till December, but Hollywood-bound Ava, whose lean classic beauty is more striking each visit, will probably see him there and thank him for helping to solve the hotel problem.

Groucho Marx was being cocktail-patted at NBC in honor of his new book "Groucho and Me" when a rep of his sponsors said he shouldn't pose for a picture with a drink in his hand. "Why not?" protested Groucho. "People watch TV with drinks in their hands. In fact, people watch television drunk. If they weren't, they wouldn't watch it."

Groucho then went to a party for Eddie Fisher and Liz Taylor at the Harwyn, given by Danny Weiss. Looking down at shapely Liz, Groucho said, "I'll see you when you get rid of your bodyguard," and to Eddie, "If I had a body like that, I'd guard it, too."

Now we can tell that when Mr. K. got stuck in that elevator, Waldorf boss Joe Binns, who was also in it, thought, "The saboteurs have got us!" Premier Khrushchev, lightened the situation, slightly by saying jokingly to the worried Binns, "I have always heard of your great American superiority in technology." Forced to bend over to get out, Mr. K. said, "I don't mind; I got used to this when I was a coal miner."

A Redcap on the K train from Washington to N.Y., who—took care of the coats and hats of more than 40 visiting Russians, told a detective later. "All the tips I got was a quarter and four dimes. I know they're Communists, but man, they tip like Capitalists."

Judy Garland told Alan (Rolls-Royce) King that she lost 24 pounds. Reading that Khrushchev has three lbs. in it, Taffy Tuttle said, "The h with him" ... Gisele MacKenzie opened her smart and talented show at the Waldorf with one kidding lyric: "Tell yourself things couldn't be sweeter, pretend there isn't any Nikita," and then a tribute to our new state: "April, Fairbanks is so appealing, when you feel your blood congealing."

They were talking about a lady columnist who looked very delectable at El Morocco and her friend, Mrs. G. Litt.

man, said, "It's not that her dress is so low, but that she's so high." Obviously the B-way show Mr. K. and Ike should see is "Two for the Seesaw."

Julie Newman's telling back stage at "Marriage-Go-Round" how a skulking Algerian, with intentions of rape, leaped at her while she was strolling on the Paris Left Bank, during her vacation, and almost deafened her with a blow on her ear. She fought him off, Julie was in such a state of shock when she went to the hospital, that she didn't think to try to get any publicity about it.

Barbara Rush was killed off in "Bramble Bush" in Hollywood recently but Warners decided to bring her back to life for a happy ending, so when she finishes taping "What Makes Sammy Run" in Brooklyn, she'll vroom to the coast.

Now that Danny Dayton's big on TV, friends remember how people used to say, "Who is Dayton married to?"

THE MIDNIGHT EARL

Mrs. K. saw "My Fair Lady" in a party of 35. As somebody at "Music Man" said, "Same old story, the out-of-towners get all the best tickets." Ex-Judge Florence Shientag asked Mrs. K. at the luncheon if she knew what happened to her cousin Vladimir Perlov, former in-terpreter to Molotov. (Mrs. K. was thinking, "What happened to Molotov?")

There'll be a major cast change in the Tom Poston comedy, "The Golden Fleece," Paramount head Barney Balaban bought a Greenwich, Conn. home. The Maharajah of Baroda, a partner in Gilmore's restaurant, phoned from Calcutta to check opening night receipts. Cozy Grant mentioned to a B-way sis that he'd like her as a blonde so now she's a blonde.

Earl's Pearls: Marriage, says Ima Washout, is another union that defies management.

Today's Best Laugh: Capsule description of a Las Vegas vacation: Out by jet, back in debt.

Wish I'd Said That: Most men think they're marrying a cook, apparently most women think they're marrying a banker.

Comic Alan King notes that with Khrushchev staying at the Waldorf, it's the first time he's sleeping in a room with a Bible in it. That's Earl, brother.

Growers Hit Loss Leaders In Turkeys

WINNIPEG (CP) Canadian turkey producers want federal legislation making it illegal for chain stores to use turkeys as "loss leaders."

At its annual convention here Monday, the Canadian Turkey Federation made up of provincial organizations of turkey producers passed such a resolution. It called on the government to force retail stores to sell turkeys at net profit of three to five per cent and under no circumstances to sell at less than the retail merchant's cost.

The motion was made by Jack Wood of Hammond, B.C., president of the British Columbia Turkey Association.

He said the chain stores were in a rat race, fighting each other to attract customers. "And who's getting hurt? We are the ones getting hurt. We are really getting squeezed."

What causes phosphorus to glow in the dark?

Phosphorus rates as the 11th most plentiful element on earth, yet we never find it in pure form. It is a most highly active element and hence in nature we always find it combined with other elements. The chemist can produce it in two pure crystal forms. One is yellow or white phosphorus, the other is violet phosphorus and both are named from their colors.

Crystals of violet phosphorus are steady and well behaved. The yellow or white crystals are so active that they must be kept under water. They combine with almost all other elements. Even in very cold air, these active molecules will combine with oxygen. The ghostly glow from this type of phosphorus glimmers in the dark and is caused by slow oxidation with the air.

Emergency Landing By U.S. Airliner

MONTREAL (CP) — An airliner carrying 15 passengers and a crew of nine en route from Chicago and Detroit to London made a successful emergency landing Wednesday night after developing mechanical trouble. Passengers transferred to another Britannia and continued their trip after a two-hour delay.

Raw-Meat Callas Magnificent

LONDON (UPI) — Maria Callas, with a tremendous roar of approval, she laid aside for a moment the worries over her broken marriage with Italian industrialist Giovanni Meneghini and her cooling romance with the handsome Greek, Onassis, and became Callas the magnificent.

Midway during the performance when she ripped off the shoulder straps from her green evening gown to give herself more leeway in singing the mad scene from the opera "Hamlet," the audience went wild.

And when she had ended, the usually sedate 3,000 Londoners applauded without let-up for 12 minutes while fans showered her with flowers and kisses and screamed "bravo" till she bowed herself off the stage.

It was a double triumph for the fiery, New York-born singer who complained only Wednesday she has to work for a living now. She received $3,000 for the concert and a picture and concert offer, of $250,000.

The triumph came as her friends in Milan, Italy, home of La Scala Opera House, and centre of opera itself, said it was a test of whether she would remain a prima donna.

In Bilbao, Spain, last week in one of the current "silly little engagements" that began the rift with her husband, there were hisses and boos mixed with the lukewarm applause.

The tiger-eyed singer smiled, laughed and waved during the repeated curtain calls but today she reverted to the sadness of her broken romances and prepared to fly to Italy to straighten things out. Onassis, who had planned to fly here for the concert, bowed out at the last minute.

WOMAN HURT, COW DEAD

CHILLIWACK (CP) — Early morning fog was blamed for two accidents Wednesday which sent Mrs. Stewart Key of Agassiz to hospital with severe injuries, demolished her car, and caused the death of a cow. Both Mrs. Stewart's car and the cow were hit by trucks.

TRAFFIC FINES

In city police court Wednesday: Darrel Pugh, 2718 Rock Bay, $30 for violation of driver's licence restriction and $10 for driving without rear lights.

Herbert Wishart, 2914 Douglas, $15 for making an illegal left turn.

Fred Bradbury, 2173 Pentland, $40 for careless driving.

James D. Swanson, 19 Cook, $10 for failing to notify Motor Vehicles Branch of a change of address.

Clyde Greek, Work Point, $25 for driving without a licence.

Symphonic Music Can Be Cheerful

Many people regard symphonic music as "weird compositions designed to reduce audiences to a state of glassy-eyed boredom," Arnold Webb of Victoria Symphony Society said Wednesday night.

He said Victoria Symphony Orchestra had "opposed" this idea during the past year by performing many popular compositions, such as the Nutcracker Suite, the Warsaw Concerto and music from "Oklahoma" and "My Fair Lady."

"What is light music today may be classical music tomorrow," he told a meeting of Victoria Chamber of Commerce in an appeal for support of the Symphony Society.

He added that season tickets for the coming season of concerts may be purchased at prices ranging from $9 to $19.

Assault Charge Of 2 Years Ago Court Dismisses

A charge of assault causing bodily harm alleged to have occurred two years ago was dismissed in city police court Wednesday.

William Louis Todd, of Victoria, pleaded not guilty to assaulting Stanley G. Crittenden, 3300 Quadra, at a duplex owned by Crittenden at 1426 Gladstone, Aug. 10, 1957.

At the time, Todd, under another name was a recent resident of the house and was alleged by Crittenden to have chased him and pinned him behind a door.

Magistrate William Ostler said there was some doubt of the facts as related by both sides and the lengthy time lapse before a charge was laid also cast doubt on the case.

FAMED BRITISH ACTRESS HURT IN CAR CRASH

COVENTRY, Eng. (AP) — Dame Edith Evans, one of Britain's great names in the theatre, was injured in a traffic accident today.

The 71-year-old actress was taken to hospital for treatment for a fractured wrist, knee injuries and concussion after the car in which she was riding was in a collision with a heavy truck.

At the time, Todd, under another name was a recent resident of the house and was alleged by Crittenden to have chased him and pinned him behind a door.

Magistrate William Ostler said there was some doubt of the facts as related by both sides and the lengthy time lapse before a charge was laid also cast doubt on the case.

TUTS Needs $35,000

VANCOUVER (CP) — More than $35,000 is needed to save the theatre's directors was told Wednesday by the city public works committee.

Under the Stars from bank General manager Bill Buckingham said more than $50,000 was lost to the end of August.

'Pick-Up' Stations For Taxis

Introduction of three passenger "pick-up" stands on downtown streets was recommended Tuesday by city public works committee.

The stands would be located in front of the Sealand and Campbell Buildings on Douglas and the Yarrow Building on Fort.

Taxis and private cars would be allowed one minute to pick up passengers. Cabs would not be allowed to park while waiting for fares.

Establishment of the pick-up stands is expected to ease the demand for present curbside taxi zones. The committee has been attempting to eliminate these parking zones for cabs.

Wet weather was blamed for the deficit. Of the 54 scheduled performances in Stanley Park last season, two were rained out and 15 others were affected by the weather.

LESS THAN EXPECTED—I suppose I was expecting too much from the first of the TV TEE-NEES

TV TEE-NEES

I don't know about you, but I always think of Kern's music as cobbywobbly, fragile, delicate. "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes," "Why Do I Love You?" and "The Last Time I Saw Paris" are for rose-colored glasses, the dancing of Astaire and Rogers, a dive into white, fluffy clouds, something to smell a rose by or kiss a pretty girl to.

So long as writer-producer Bob Wells toasted the memory of Kern with the voices of Patricia Marshall, Howard Keel and, in one song, "Bill" Lisa Kirk, the champagne bubbled and danced. But when he introduced actor-comedian Robert Cummings as a singer and the peculiar talents of Louis Prima and Keely Smith a flatness invaded the brew, that even the fun of Carol Channing's ditties couldn't revitalize.

Now this isn't to be construed as a slap at Cummings or the Prima-Smith team. In other areas no doubt they are excellent. But they simply weren't intended for the music of Jerome Kern. On Tuesday night they broke the cobbywobbles, dispersed the clouds, drowned the tinkle and smeared the rose colored glasses.

Too bad.

FRONT PAGE CHALLENGE is back with its again on Tuesday nights, starting at 9. Channels 6 and 2. And to judge by the first opus it once again will assume its position as Canada's favorite show of its nature.

Personally, I sometimes find the format rather cumbersome and wish the directors would travel a little more a la Euclid by taking the straightest route between two points. However the show doesn't depend upon its format or its popularity but on its engaging personalities, Gordon Sinclair, Pierre Berton and the girl with the "all-Canadian" air, Toby Robin.

OF THIS AND THAT—Andy Williams' show bowed out Tuesday night and a certain sparkle in the family set left with him. His was the best on summer TV and, by the early looks of it, as good as we're going to see all winter, too. Happy to see Clint Walker back after his year-long lay-off. Now Monday night's "Canyonero" is a growl up western again. Like Jackie Parker is to the Edmonton Rockies so Walker is to "Canyonero." Everything.

"FOREST" CEDAR SIDING

WHAT IS FOREST SIDING?

FOREST SIDING is a new type of siding that is made from a special type of wood that is treated with a special preservative that makes it resistant to rot and decay.

APPEARANCE?

For homes and buildings where a distinctive and pleasing appearance is desired, either for best shadow lines, sound insulation, knots ranging in size from 2 inches to 6 inches wide for 4 inch in 25 inch width add to the rustic appearance of this siding.

WHAT ARE ITS QUALITIES?

FOREST siding with its unusual thickness and greater wood volume adds to the structural STRENGTH and stability of the building.

THE DESIGN OF "FOREST" siding is a light weather seal that is applied to the siding to protect it from the elements.

FOREST siding represents an ECONOMY in home-building. Costing less than other types of siding, the sap design ensures easy fitting and speedy application at less labor cost.

HOW IS IT APPLIED?

As easily and quickly as from any other siding. Each piece of "FOREST" siding fits snugly over the one below and requires only one nail.

HOW CAN IT BE FINISHED?

If a natural finish is desired, use a special stain that is applied to the siding to give it a natural look.

Big Crowd Expected For Rugby Exhibition

VANCOUVER (CP)—The touring British Lions rugby team, a proven and well-knit combination that singled out the hills of the Pacific Northwest as their home, arrived in Vancouver Wednesday in preparation for their match Saturday against British Columbia Rebs.

British Columbia Rugby Union officials predict a crowd of 10,000 for the game in Exhibition Park, but are more wary about predicting the result.

The tourists are considered one of the finest sides to visit Vancouver in more than 30 years.

Fourteen of the 25 Lions have played on one of the United Kingdom's four amateur international teams and most still hold their places.

During their Australian and New Zealand tour they won 26 of 31 games, attracted 800,000 fans and broke all attendance, gate receipts and scoring records for a touring team. They piled up 784 points against 308.

Former MP Found Dead In Hospital

TORONTO (CP)—W. Garfield Case, winner of one of the most noted by-elections in Canadian political history, was found dead Tuesday in a Toronto hospital.

The former Progressive Conservative MP for Grey North, underdog conqueror of Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton when the general was wartime Liberal defence minister, was said by Detective Gordon Bacon to have been found hanging by his belt in a closet of Sunnybrook Hospital.

Mr. Case, who would have been 62 Wednesday, had been admitted to the hospital July 29 for psychiatric treatment, suffering from depression.

A cheerful extrovert, Mr. Case spent some 4½ years in the Commons pushing for monetary reform and for what he described as the pepping up of his party.

He made one half-way attempt at the national leadership in 1948, announcing he would be a candidate at the convention which eventually chose George Drew. However, he withdrew before the contest actually started.

Miss World Candidate Selected

MONTREAL (CP)—Irene Dobler, a Hungarian-born artist who wrote the words and music for the song the sang at the Miss Maple Leaf of Canada contest Wednesday night, will represent Canada at the Miss World competition in London this November.

Miss Dobler, 21-year-old blonde with green eyes, makes her home in Toronto. She's an artistic jack-of-all-trades, working as a free-lance window dresser, model, painter, singer and dress designer.

Fourteen young women, all from Eastern Canada, entered the contest. Runner-up was Huguette Demers, 21-year-old Montreal model. Sandy Seville, an auburn-haired jazz singer from Sudbury, placed third.

PARIS HOLIDAY

Miss Dobler, who came to Canada five years ago, won a $1,000 scholarship plus a two-week holiday in Paris. Miss Demers won $300, and Miss Seville, $200.

Miss Dobler, who entered the Miss Toronto contest this year but did not place, said her song, Tell Me Again the Story of Love, is the only one she has ever written. She sang without accompaniment.

A shapely 38-22-37, she designed the 10 costumes she wore throughout the three-day contest here. Before she leaves for London, she will get her private pilot's licence and upon her return she will have her first painting exhibition in Toronto. She speaks English with an accent, fluent German and Hungarian.

Miss Demers, a 35-23-36 blonde with big brown eyes who holds 11 other beauty titles, hopes to combine a modelling and comedy acting and singing career.

The contestants were judged on beauty, figure and talent.

Segura, Trabert In Pro Net Final

WEMBLEY, England (AP)—Pancho Segura of Ecuador upset Lew Hoad of Australia 6-8, 6-3, 6-4 Wednesday night and reached the semifinals of the London Indoor pro tennis tourney.

Tony Trabert of Cincinnati wasted no time overwhelming left-hander Mervyn Rose 6-2, 6-3 to qualify for the semifinal against Segura.

'THAT'S AMERICA' was Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's laughing comment as he patted paunch of 240-pound farmer Dave Watkins at Coon Rapids, Iowa, Wednesday. Later he "swiped" the picture from an Associated Press wirephoto tent, set up for the occasion.

NEWS BRIEFS

Slow drivers on B.C. highways can expect prodding by RCMP officers soon, following complaint by Victoria Automobile Club.

The laggard is a hazard to traffic safety, the club wrote to RCMP headquarters. Wednesday police replied "immediate action will be taken whenever a complaint comes to attention or a violation is observed."

A national association of highway and traffic officials has been formed to bring control of inter-provincial transport to a common level. Formation of Canadian Motor Vehicle Association was announced by Dr. H. E. Angus who recently served on a royal commission inquiring into transport and highway uses in B.C. He heads the B.C. Public Utilities Commission. The new association will study a report on uniform signs and markings. But its main work will be concerned with the trucking industry.

Frank W. Greive, 3373 Henderson, $20 for speeding over 30.

Chow Wong, 954 Mason, $10 for failing to stop at a red light.

Noted Chemist Leaves UBC Faculty

VANCOUVER (UPI)—A world-renowned chemist has quit his British Columbia Research Council post for a more "stimulating atmosphere."

Dr. Gobind Khorana said today he would move next year to the University of Wisconsin. He planned to take at least four members of his seven-man research team with him in September, 1960.

His resignation, announced

Wednesday, came as a blow to a group of scientific, government and industrial leaders who had planned a $1,000,000 research centre for Khorana to continue his experiments.

Dr. Gordon Shrum, head of the B.C. Research Council, said he was "terribly disappointed" over Khorana's decision. He had predicted that the centre would be awarded a Nobel Prize for his scientific advances.

Khorana achieved world scientific prominence last April when he announced in Boston that he had successfully synthesized a complex chemical in the life process which was named co-enzyme "A."

The task was hailed as "a beautiful piece of chemical artistry." Scientists regarded it as a significant breakthrough in the tedious drive towards complete understanding of the basic processes of life.

Khorana's success triggered a movement to develop a Commonwealth research centre at the University of British Columbia which would attract top-flight scientists from many nations.

In trying to keep Khorana, the province had to compete against such top U.S. research centres as New York's Rockefeller Institute.

The doctor made it clear that the appeal of the University of Wisconsin offer lay more in its "intellectual atmosphere" than in its offer of greater space and more money and research facilities.

He said "a number of personal reasons" led him to believe that he should move to Wisconsin, and that a change in his scientific environment would be "both stimulating and desirable."

Wide Search For Plane Wreck Fails

CRETE FALLS, Mont. (AP)—A helicopter search on high mountain country in northwestern Montana Wednesday failed to uncover trace of reported plane wreckage. The search resumed today.

The helicopter was dispatched from nearby Malmstrom Air Force Base after a Canadian hunter and his son reported spotting what appeared to be wreckage about 5,000 feet up the side of a mountain near Eureka, Mont.

A 20-mile wide area from the Canadian border to 14 miles south was scanned Wednesday. Lt. Donald Smith, information services officer at Malmstrom, said.

Air Rescue Service officials from Hamilton Air Force Base, Calif., said there is nothing definite to link the apparent wreckage sighted by the hunters with an Air Force C-54 missing since 1950 with 40 military men aboard.

New RCAF Jet Slim Hope As U.S. Interceptor 'Out'

OTTAWA (CP)—Cancellation by the United States of the projected F-108 jet interceptor makes the RCAF's chances of getting a replacement for its CF-100 jet far tougher, if not impossible, informants said today.

The U.S. Air Force had planned to use the F-108 to patrol the DEW radar line in Alaska, Greenland and the Canadian Arctic.

When the Canadian government cancelled the Arrow jet interceptor program, in February it said that the main Russian threat to North America would be long-range missiles and not bombers.

Defence Minister Pearkes told a reporter today that cancellation of the F-108 is a "further indication of the changing threat."

Owing to the great cost of weapons, he said, even large countries like the U.S. had to be selective. Apparently American officials were faced with a choice between the F-108 and other weapons which would have a greater value as a deterrent to war.

Mr. Pearkes added that the U.S. decision was also undoubtedly influenced by the fact that steps are being taken to increase radar facilities on the warning lines. The F-108 would have operated independently of ground control radar.

He said the U.S. decision does not affect the Canadian decision to build the American Lockheed Starfighter because this plane would be used for strike and reconnaissance and not interception.

In view of the Canadian government's own previous action in regard to the Arrow and now the example of the U.S. defence department in cancelling the F-108 it appears extremely unlikely that the RCAF will get the replacement it wants for the subsonic CF-100, informants said.

K Blames Cold War On U.S.

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Nikita Khrushchev today blamed the United States for continuing the cold war. "The Political cold is coming from you, and not from us," he told a civic luncheon here. "We are not afraid of the cold but we would like more favorable conditions to blow in the world."

This speech was Khrushchev's last formal talk before he settles down to the serious work for which he came. He was to fly back to Washington late today to begin a series of meetings with President Eisenhower on ways to lessen world tensions.

BIG HAND

Khrushchev got a big hand from his steel-minded Pittsburgh audience today when he said:

"How happy would all the peoples of the world be if all the steel smelted in America... and in the Soviet Union would be used solely for peaceful purposes. As he has occasionally in the past, Khrushchev turned his speech over to an interpreter."

WASHINGTON (UPI)

The White House announced today that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev has cancelled plans to tour the national institutes of health here Friday so he can devote that time to preparing for his weekend meeting with President Eisenhower at Camp David.

Khrushchev told his audience that Russians and Americans each have their own national traits that, if put together, would help ensure world peace.

GAY MOOD

Earlier the Soviet premier, in one of his gayest, bounciest moods, plugged for Russian-American trade, offered to sign for equipment on the spot and then swapped his watch for a cheap cigar.

The discussion, and the unusual exchange of gifts, took place during a visit to the Mesta Machinery Company.

As Khrushchev was greeting workers at the Mesta plant, one of them, Kenneth Jackey, offered him a cigar—the five-for-39-cents type.

Khrushchev accepted it and whipped off his wrist watch and gave it to Jackey. Soviet officials said the watch is worth between 25 and $40.

As he toured the Mesta plant, Khrushchev admired the big machinery that is used to equip steel mills. Repeatedly he said:

"LET'S BUY IT"

"Let's buy it. Let's sign now."

"Sure," replied company vice-president W. W. Powell.

"Yes, yes, yes, sure, sure, but you don't do any."

LEO DOLAN
"everywhere I go"

JOHN DIEFENBAKER
"caught imagination"

MAKING NAME FOR CANADA

U.S. Public 'Follows John'

VANCOUVER (CP) — Canada's consul general in Los Angeles said today more Americans know Prime Minister Diefenbaker than any other Canadian leader.

D. Leo Dolan said not since Lester Pearson, former Canadian external affairs minister and now leader of the Liberal party, made his mark at the United Nations and at international conferences has a Canadian public man caught the imagination of the American press as has Diefenbaker.

Mr. Dolan was speaking at a luncheon at the annual convention of the Canadian Good Roads Association.

LOUD IN PRAISE
He said it has been a long, hard struggle to create a greater knowledge of Canada among Americans. But now everywhere he goes in the United States he finds "people loud in the praise of my country."

He said Mr. Diefenbaker's recognition by Americans is probably because of outspoken remarks during his career on Canadian-American relations which had resulted in him becoming a much publicized figure.

Shortly after his election cries were heard that Mr. Diefenbaker was leading an anti-American government and some radio and television commentators in Los Angeles suggested by innuendo Mr. Diefenbaker "was about ready to declare war on the United States."

"Today, you hear none of that nonsense talked in the United States by sensible people."

While mentioning the apparent lack of knowledge of Americans about Canada he chided Canadians for not knowing enough about their own country. In his Canadian travels he found "vast numbers of Canadians who were pitifully unenlightened about their own institutions and ignorant of our own economic problems."

It is doubtful that the United States can have another Atlas-Able rocket ready in time for an early October launching. This means it will be at least early November before such a launching can be attempted.

Flames spurted from the base of the towering rocket as the countdown reached zero in the static engine test. Suddenly the missile erupted in a flash of fire.

No one was injured.

The shot would have been an attempt to put a 375-pound satellite in orbit about the moon. A television camera in the satellite was to attempt to take pictures of the dark side of the moon, which man has never seen.

Green Appeals 'For All Mankind'

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) — Canada called on the United Nations today for worldwide collection of information on radiation, saying that all mankind is concerned with this peril to human life and future generations.

External Affairs Minister Howard Green, making his first policy speech to the UN General Assembly, took the initiative in the much-discussed and controversial subject when he declared:

"At this session the Canadian delegation intends to submit a proposal which we sincerely hope will encourage the worldwide collection of more accurate data on radiation and will provide for its central collection."

Canada's 64-year-old foreign chief did not spell out details of his plan, but stated:

"We believe that mankind would derive relief from anxiety if the nations of the world were to acknowledge an obligation to do what they can to ensure that the worldwide physical measurement of the intensity and distribution of radiation is made as accurate and complete as possible."

Green also:

1. Announced that Canada's special contribution to the world refugee year, "will waive normal immigration requirements and admit a substantial number of tubercular refugees and their families from European camps. While the minister named no figure, it was understood he was thinking in terms of about 100 families."

2. Said Canada is "entirely sympathetic" with Soviet Premier Khrushchev's general proposals for a world without arms but they lack essential details regarding control.

3. Referred to Prime Minister Diefenbaker's announcement last week that Canada is ready to open Canadian territory to inspection, particularly in the Arctic area, "under an equitable and reciprocal system."

4. Stressed the urgent necessity of establishing international confidence, "said the minister."

5. Suggested that the UN find a way to "express its continuing interest in Laos," the southeast Asian kingdom whose government claims it is the target of aggression from Communist North Viet Nam.

6. Stressed the importance of the UN Emergency Force in the Middle East and urged members to support Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld in his efforts to "consolidate its financial position."

On disarmament—which has become the dominant theme of the current assembly—Green declared that "now as never before" the impasse must be solved and he referred to proposals placed before the 82-member body by Khrushchev and Foreign Minister Selwyn Lloyd of Britain.

Stressing that Canada still is studying the proposals and reserving detailed comments, the minister said:

"For the moment let me say I am entirely sympathetic with the general objective stated by Mr. Khrushchev's proposal. We would all like to see general and complete disarmament. However, we are looking forward to more detailed proposals designed to this end, particularly with respect to control."

Want to End Nuclear Testing

"The central question of disarmament turns on the ability of states to find a basis of mutual confidence, and this is realistically reflected in Mr. Lloyd's proposals."

Disarming and control had to be negotiated in parallel. Otherwise mutual confidence would be lacking at a time of great political and ideological conflict.

Canada's geographical position as a neighbor of both the U.S. and Russia gave Canadians a special interest in disarmament.

Deadly Rumble Foiled As Police Grab Gangs

NEW YORK (AP) — Police rounded up 27 youths in two well-armed gangs Wednesday night, probably preventing more killing in the tense Bronx area where 16-year-old John Guzman was slain Monday.

One group of six youths, three of them over 21, were trapped by police on a rooftop with a pile of nine "Molotov cocktail" gasoline bombs, a shotgun with 22 shells, two hunting knives and a box of 22-calibre bullets.

A short time later three carloads of youths were spotted about four blocks away and caught after a five-block chase.

This netted another 21 boys, a zip gun with two barrels on a swivel, and a switchblade knife. Some of the boys who tried to flee from the cars were seen dropping several objects into a sewer—presumably more weapons.

"DEAD FOR SURE"
Deputy Chief Inspector James J. Walsh, after questioning some of the youths, commented: "If this one had not been stopped, there would have been a couple dead tonight for sure."

Both groups of boys were arrested on anonymous telephone tips to police.

The rooftop ambush and the auto caravan apparently were the outgrowth of a planned "rumble" between the gang to which Guzman had belonged and the gang identified with his killers.

ROOF AMBUSH
Edward Peres, 16, and six other teenagers have been charged with homicide in the shooting of Guzman on the steps of a Bronx high school.

As police reconstructed the battle was to have been fought on a playground Wednesday night, and the three carloads of youths were bound for the playground.

The six on the rooftop allegedly told police they had feared they would be outnumbered by the other group, and had decided to ambush them from the roof with their rifle and fire bombs.

Another $15,000,000 in 182-day bills were sold at an average yield of 6.29 per cent compared with 6.58 last week. Average price was $96.959 compared with $96.825.

The 'Best of Barron' To Appear as Book

A collection of 96 cartoons by Victoria Daily Times cartoonist Sid Barron will be available in book form next week.

Under the title "Barron's Victoria" the best of Mr. Barron's work on this topic over the past year will be published.

PRAYER FOR TODAY

Eternal God, as we experience during these autumn days the changing of the seasons, with all its matchless beauty, may we ever realize that Thou art a God who never changes. Help us to realize that Thy love for us does not blow hot today and cold tomorrow; that Thy forgiveness is not bestowed upon us at this moment and then withheld the next time we seek it. In Thine unchangeable nature may we see the occasion for our hope, the cause for our trust in Thee, and the reason for our faith: through Christ. Amen.

One Union Postal Aim

WINNIPEG (CP) — Canadian Postal Employees Association today on the final day of its annual meeting agreed to continue working towards the formation of one postal union.

The association, representing 10,000 of 12,000 post office employees, eventually wants to unite with the 5,100-member Federated Association of Letter Carriers and the 800-member Railway Mail Clerks Federation.

OL VIC SAYS — Mister Green's right in thinkin' it ain't no bed o' roses bein' under a Geiger counterpane.

Looks like Mister Khrushchev has bin sight-seen as much as he sight-saw.

THE WARM SIDE OF KHRUSHCHEV

K Blames
Cold War
On U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev landed at Andrews Air Force base, Md., at 2:27 p.m. (PDT) from Pittsburgh, completing his travels across the United States.

PITTSBURGH (AP)—

Nikita Khrushchev today blamed the United States for continuing the cold war. "The political cold is coming from you, and not from us," he told a civic luncheon here. "We are not afraid of the cold but we would like more favorable winds to blow in the world."

This speech was Khrushchev's last formal talk before he settles down to the serious work for which he came. He was to fly back to Washington late today to begin a series of meetings with President Eisenhower on ways to lessen world tensions.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—

The White House announced today that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev has cancelled plans to tour the national institutes of health here Friday so he can devote that time to preparing for his weekend meeting with President Eisenhower at Camp David.

BIG HAND

Khrushchev got a big hand from his steel-minded Pittsburgh audience today when he said:

"How happy would all the peoples of the world be if all the steel smelted in America would be used solely for peaceful purposes."

As he has occasionally in the past, Khrushchev turned his speech over to an interpreter.

Khrushchev told his audience that Russians and Americans each have their own national traits that, if put together, would help ensure world peace.

GAY MOOD

Earlier the Soviet premier, in one of his gayest, bounciest moods, pluggled for Russian-American trade, offered to sign for equipment on the spot and then swapped his watch for a cheap cigar.

The discussion, and the unusual exchange of gifts, took place during a visit to the Mesta Machinery Company.

As Khrushchev was greeting workers at the Mesta plant, one of them, Kenneth Jackey, offered him a cigar—the five-for-39 cents type.

Khrushchev accepted it and whipped off his wrist watch and gave it to Jackey. Soviet officials said the watch is worth between $25 and $40.

As he toured the Mesta plant, Khrushchev commented:

Deadly Rumble Foiled
As Police Grab Gangs

NEW YORK (AP)—Police rounded up 27 youths in two well-armed gangs Wednesday night, probably preventing more killing in the tense Bronx area where 16-year-old John Guzman was slain Monday.

One group of six youths

three of them over 21, were trapped by police on a rooftop with a pile of nine 'Molotov cocktail' gasoline bombs, a shotgun with 22 shells, two hunting knives and a box of 22-calibre bullets.

A short time later three carloads of youths were spotted about four blocks away and caught after a five-block chase.

This netted another 21 boys, a zip gun with two barrels on a swivel, and a switchblade knife. Some of the boys who tried to flee from the cars were seen dropping several objects into a sewer—presumably more weapons.

Deputy Chief Inspector James J. Walsh, after questioning some of the youths, commented:

"If this one had not been stopped, there would have been a couple dead tonight for sure."

Both groups of boys were arrested on anonymous telephone tips to police.

The rooftop ambush and the auto caravan apparently were the outgrowth of a planned "rumble" between the gang to which Guzman had belonged and the gang identified with his killers.

ROOF AMBUSH
Edward Peres, 16, and six other teenagers have been charged with homicide in the shooting of Guzman on the steps of a Bronx high school.

As police reconstructed it, the battle was to have been fought on a playground Wednesday night and the three carloads of youths were bound for the playground.

The six on the rooftop allegedly told police they had feared they would be outnumbered by the other group, and had decided to ambush them from the roof with their rifle and fire bombs.

TOMAHAWKS AND 'SIX-GUNS'

NEW YORK (UPI)—Police went into action Wednesday when they received a report that three youths carrying guns and knives were seen on a rooftop.

Expecting another outbreak of juvenile violence, police rushed to the scene, bounded to the roof and found three 14-year old boys playing cowboys and Indians with toy weapons.

B.C. Pair Arrested

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Police Wednesday arrested two Vancouver "B.C. men" and accused them of obtaining $4,000 in cash by banking $10,000 worth of stolen and forged bank drafts.

They were identified as Donald W. Holmwood, 46, and Graham Love, 40.

Rocket Blowup
Sparks Probe

WASHINGTON (AP)—The entire American program in the space probe field will undergo restudy as a result of today's explosion of an Atlas-Able rocket being readied for a shot at the moon next month.

This was disclosed by an unidentified spokesman for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration shortly after the big rocket blew up on its launching pad at Cape Canaveral, Fla.

He indicated the accident might affect not only the two shots originally scheduled for October and November but others planned for the distant future.

"It's like when you have an airplane crash," the official said. "You hold an investigation to see what happened."

He added it now is unlikely there will be an attempt in October.

NO ONE HURT

Flames spurted from the base of the towering rocket as the countdown reached zero in the static engine test. Suddenly the missile erupted in a flash of fire.

No one was injured.

The shot would have been an attempt to put a 375-pound satellite in orbit about the moon. A television camera in the satellite was to attempt to take pictures of the dark side of the moon, which man has never seen.

MAYOR SCURRAH
... to run again?Third-Term
Hint Dropped
By Scurrah

An intimation that he is considering running for a third term—as Victoria's mayor was dropped in an off-the-cuff remark by Percy Scurrah at a Rotary luncheon today.

Asked to introduce guest speaker Art Wickens, the mayor said: "Before I do that, I want to appeal to all tenant electors and agents of limited companies to register for the December elections."

"We are very, very disappointed at City Hall at response to our appeal. I don't want any of you to come to me after the election, bellyaching that you weren't on the voters' list."

Then His Worship grinned and added:

"I'm not asking for votes—I'm just urging you to get on the lists so that you can vote for somebody."

Mayor Scurrah has made no announcement on third-term plans, although it is understood that he is being urged by many civic groups to stand again.

BEFORE UN

Radiation Study
Canada's Plea

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—Canada called on the United Nations today for worldwide collection of information on radiation, saying that all mankind is concerned with this peril to human life and future generations.

External Affairs Minister Howard Green, making his first policy speech to the UN General Assembly, took the initiative in the much-discussed and controversial subject when he declared:

"At this session the Canadian delegation intends to submit a proposal which we sincerely hope will encourage the worldwide collection of more accurate data on radiation and will provide for its central collation."

The 64-year-old foreign chief did not spell out details of his plan, but stated:

"We believe that mankind would derive relief from anxiety if the nations of the world were to acknowledge an obligation to do what they can to ensure that the worldwide physical measurement of the intensity and distribution of radiation is made as accurate and complete as possible."

His remarks were contained in the text of a speech released to the press before delivery.

Green also:

1. Announced that Canada, as its special contribution to the world refugee year, will waive normal immigration requirements and admit a "substantial number" of tubercular refugees and their families from European camps. While the minister named no figure, Continued on Page 2

MAKING NAME FOR CANADA

U.S. Public 'Follows John'

VANCOUVER (CP) — Canada's consul general in Los Angeles said today more Americans know Prime Minister Diefenbaker than any other Canadian leader.

D. Leo Dolan said not since Lester Pearson, former Canadian external affairs minister and now leader of the Liberal party, "made his mark at the United Nations and at international conferences has a Canadian public man caught the imagination of the American press as has Diefenbaker."

Mr. Dolan was speaking at a luncheon at the annual convention of the Canadian Good Roads Association.

LOUD IN PRAISE

He said it has been a long, hard struggle to create a greater knowledge of Canada among Americans. But now everywhere he goes in the United States he finds "people loud in the praise of my country."

He said Mr. Diefenbaker's recognition by Americans is probably because of outspoken remarks during his career on Canadian-American relations.

plant. Khrushchev admired the big machinery that is used to equip steel mills. Repeatedly he said:

"LET'S BUY IT"

"Let's buy it. Let's sign now."

"Sure," replied company vice-president V. W. Fowler.

"Yes, yes, yes," sure, sure, but you don't do anything about it," Khrushchev shot back through his interpreter.

Nearly all the big machinery Khrushchev saw has been embargoed from shipment to Russia because of its war potential.

Khrushchev twisted his hosts with:

"How is it you Americans have lost one of your features peculiar to Americans? You used to be very bold, and you used to trade with the whole world. But of late some kind of devil must have frightened you because you are afraid to stick out your nose for fear the devil will imprison you."

GOT TOO CLOSE

The Soviet leader, perspiration showing on his forehead from the hot blast furnaces, at one point ventured so close to a machine that his official escort, Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, called out:

"Stop! Stop! It's very dangerous. Don't let him get too close!"

Khrushchev, gaily invited half a dozen waitresses in the company dining room to fly back to Moscow with him.

"Sure, why not?" one replied. But Khrushchev walked on without taking her along.

In the Soviet leader's party for the plant visit was Nikolai A. Tikhonov, a leading figure in the Soviet steel industry.

Clementine Rules Winnie

Out of Order

WOODED, England (UPI) — Sir Winston Churchill was ruled out of order Wednesday night by his wife.

Sir Winston and his wife Clementine appeared in the back room of the local pub where Conservative party supporters officially adopted the former prime minister as their candidate in the Oct. 8 parliamentary election.

After making a short acceptance speech 84-year-old Churchill grinned and said, "Now I would like you to listen to my wife. You can see that we get along quite well."

Lady Churchill, noticing that the former prime minister hadn't bothered to wait for the meeting chairman to handle the introduction, rose and replied:

"It is all very well for him to say we get along very well together, but he has just been usurping the function of the chairman," Lady Churchill said. The audience roared.

Sir Winston winked at the crowd and waved a hand in a gesture of surrender to his wife.

DEATH SENTENCE

One-time Canadian immigrant from Germany, Gunther Podola, today was sentenced to be hanged for the murder of a London policeman. Old Bailey judge called it a "foul and terrible deed."

He said Mrs. Munford told him the kitchen floor was made of highly waxed flagstones.

"No one knows how the accident happened," Dinis said.

Dinis said Munford's wife found him standing up "apparently not aware that he was stabbed."

"He didn't realize what had happened."

Before Dinis completed his investigation, Gerald Ouellette, administrator of the Cape Cod Hospital, announced Munford apparently had wounded himself with a knife while in a state of fatigue.

Ouellette had earlier said two doctors "were getting ready to go with Mr. Munford to Boston to arrange for further treatment" for a nervous condition.

INTERNATIONAL CROSSING

Scurrah to Speed Skiers Across Strait

Mayor Percy Scurrah will give a send-off to the Victoria skiers who will skim across the Strait of Juan de Fuca Sunday afternoon carrying a message to the governor of Washington state.

Simultaneously, four Port Angeles water skiers will cross the Strait to Victoria in a two-way display designed to promote Greater Victoria's 1959 Community Chest campaign.

ONLY TORIES CAN TOOT OWN HORN

OTTAWA (CP) — Progressive Conservative MPs henceforth will share the glory connected with announcements of new public works projects in their constituencies.

Under a new practice adopted by recent appointed Works Minister Walker, these announcements now are issued as coming jointly from the Commons member and the minister.

But the system works only for Conservative MPs.

A department official said today that if the project is for a constituency represented by a Liberal or CCF-NDP, the announcement is made in Mr. Walker's name only.
